COMMITTEE AGAIN TAKES ADVERSE ACTION.

r. Willis Thinking of Introducing a New Bill, so as to Get Before a Another Committee-Frank Hurd in Danger - Senator Brown's Speech-The Day in Congress, Etc.

WASHINGTON; March 19.-[Special.]-The education bill received another severe blow in the house committee on education today. It had been demonstrated that a majority of the nittee were opposed to the bill, but its friends had hoped to induce the committee at least to allow the bill to be reported to the house, but the motion to reconsider the recent action adverse to the bill, was defeated, after considerable discussion, by a vote of seven to four. Those who voted for the bill were Messrs. Candler of Georgia, Willis of Ken-tucky. Whiting of Massachusetts, and O'Don-nell of Michigan. Strait and Winn, and Burnes, of Missouri, were the most decided opponents of the bill. It is feared that today's action will prove fatal to the bill, though the committee has agreed to vote on it again on the third Monday in April. If action is then adverse, Mr. Willis, of Kentucky, will offer a new bill in the house, substantially the same as that which passed the senate, and will move its reference to some other committee. This will enable the friends of the bill to test their strength in the house. Mr. Willis says there are five com-mittees which would report the bill favorably, and to one of these he will move it reference.

Mr. Hammond today made a minority report from the committee of shipping against the Dingley pilotage bill. That bill was reported by a majority of one vote. Seven members signed the majority report. Five will sign the minority report, with McMillan, of Ten-

ADVERSE TO HURD. The action of the election committee on the contest of Frank Hurd for the seat held by Jacob Romeiss for the Toledo district, was considerable surprise. Hurd and his friends have been hopeful from the start, and recently were quite confident that he would be seated The case was thoroughly argued, and then reargued. The committee rejected, by a vote of 8 to 6, the resolution declaring Hurd entitled to the seat. The vote was not made public, but it is understood that three democrats, Turner of Georgia, Green of New Jersey, and Boyle of Pennsylvania, voted against Hurd. A minority report will be made. Hurd's cause will be warmly championed by the minority of the committee, and he will conclude the debate in his own behalf.

SENATOR BROWN'S SPEECH. The Evening Critic says of Senator Brown's Speech of yesterday: Senator Brown, of Georgia, has a very large majority of the democratic party with him when he says, as he did in his speech yesterday, that the fault of the administration is that it has made, not too many changes among the office holders, but too few. That's democracy all wool and a yard

Senator Colquitt obtained the floor just before the senate adjourned, and will speak Mon-day on the pending issue between the senate and the president. COMPLIMENTS TO CRISP.

Speaker Carlisle, who has gone to New York, designated Mr. Crisp, of Georgia, to act as speaker pro. tem. until his return.

Mr. Crisp presided over the house today, and tonight, with his usual dignity. and will probably retain the chair until

MILITARY MEN AFTER PROMOTION. The promotion of General Howard to the major-generalship leaves another vacant place in the list of brigadier generals. About forty colonels are eligible to the two vacancies caused by the promotion of Terry and How ard, and the friends of nearly every one of them are pressing the claims of their favorite.

It is thought that Colonels Wilcox and Lerritt will be the fortunate men with a chance for Colonel Ruger. F. H. R.

WASHINGTON, March 19 .- In the senate, Mr. Blackburn presented the memorials of the legislature of Kentucky, urging the passage of a bill to prevent the retirement of Rear Admiral Jarrett, United States navy.

Mr. Wilson presented joint resolution of the legislature of Maryland, requesting congress to appropriate money to make continuous navigation from Chinetocague bay in Virginia, to Delaware bay, at or near Lewes, Delaware.

All the private pension bills on the calendar were taken up and passed in order. At 2 o'clock the chair laid before the senate

At 2 o'clock the chair laid before the senate a communication from the secretary of the treasury. Its reading was begun as follows:

"To the president pro tempore of the senate:
I have received a resolution of the senate;
dated Feburary 24th, 1886, adopted by the senate in executive session."

At this point something seemed to have burnt the clerk's mouth, for, with a quick inhalation of breath, he stopped short, folded up the paper and handed it back to the president pro tem, who announced that the communication of the second control of the se dent pro tem., who announced that the communication would be withdeld for executive ses sion. The incident created for a moment a buzz of supressed excitement in the chamber, fol-lowed by deep silence.

Mr. Platt was the first to recover his voice. He inquired of the chair whether the commu-nication was marked "executive."

President Pro Tem Sherman replied that it

Several senators endeavored to maintain the point that, failing of its being marked confidential, it should be read in open session, but the chairman was obdurate. Mr. Spooner then resumed his speech begun esterday, in support of the judiciary commit-

Mr. Spooner maintained the constitutionaly of the tenure of office law, and cited the act that the president had always stated to the senate his reasons for the removal of a director of the mint. Even President Cleveland had stated to the senate his reasons for the removal of the last director of the mint.

Mr. Sanishure, said he were marril Mr. Saulsbury said he was unwilling to content himself with a silent vote on the question. The president sought no controversy with the senate. When the president was elected it was the object and intention of the people that he should adjust the offices at least more nearly between the political parties than they had been between the political parties than they had been.

The president had proceeded with caution and forbearance unparalleled in the history of the nation. The republican senators had said they had a desired a process of the said. they had no desire to protect republican offi-cials. If that were true, was it not strange the president's nominations had so long been al-lowed to remain unacted on? Was it not strange that republican senators were now making claims for a class of papers never claimed before? Was it not strange they were claiming the right to supervise the removals of the president, and that they were claiming to be entitled to see even the private papers in the pursuit of their object? Mr. Saulsbury maintained that the tenure of office act was unconstitutional, and contended that the constitution could not and contended that the constitution could not be overridden by an act of congress. Neither could the president disassociate his constitutional functions from the presidential office. The constitution placed the power of removal solely in his hands. Decisions of the court had been uniformly to that effect. Mr. Saulsbury read at some length from the decisions of the court to sustain this point. He also read from the proceedings of the first congress in 1789, to show that the removals were left entirely to the direction of the president. The commissions of the naval officers, even to this day, he said, showed by the words on their face that the office was held at the pleasure of the presidens.

Mr. Colquitt obtained the floor, but gave way for a motion to adjourn.

the committee of judiciary of the bankrupey bill.

The house spent the greater part of the day disposing of bills on the private calendar of no general public interest. A resolution was adopted setting apart April 10 for the consideration of bills reported from the committee on commerce; authorizing the construction of bridges, the establishment of light houses and the bill relating to the life saying service. It bridges, the establishment of light houses and the bill relating to the life saving service. It is understood that the Arthur Kill bridge bill will not be brought up on that day. The latter bill is one giving the Baltimore and Ohio rail-road admission to Staten Island and New York harbor. The house took a recess till half past seven o'clock, the evening session to be devo-ted to the consideration of the private pension hills ted to the consideration of the private pension bills.

At the evening session the house passed thirty pension bills. The last bill to be considered was that granting a pension of $2,000 a year to the widow of General W. S. Hancock. Mr. Bingham, of Pennsylvania, eloquently supported the bill and quoted as precedents the cases of the widows of Admiral edents the cases of the widows of Admira

Farragut and General Thomas.

Mr. Price, of Wisconsin, opposed the bill, and stated that it must be considered in a full house. He knew that the country had paid General Hancock, brilliant, brave and gener-ous in all his proportions, the sum of $152,000 during the last twenty years. "He helped save your country," suggested

"He helped save your country," suggested Mr. Bingham.

Mr. Price—"And there are hundreds of thousands as good as he who helped to save the country, who are starving." Continuing he said that the practice of granting large pensions to the widows of men who had been receiving big salaries and who died poor was destructive of American manhood. The influence was to make men live not to the lest destructive of American mannood. The influence was to make men live up to the last dollar of their salaries in pomp and extravagance and champagne. It shook every principle of justice and created a privileged class. Mr. Bingham regretted the necessity of taking the bill before the house in full session. He thought it would be such a graceful act, such a generous act, to pass the graceful act, such a generous act, to pass the bill now, that he felt that the gentleman's own bill now, that he felt that the gentleman's own constituents would applaud him for being a party to it. He (Biugham) could not argue this question without losing his patience. For four years he had served on Hancock's personal staff, and he regretted that the pension of the widow of the general should be fixed as low as $2,000. The bill introduced by Mr. Pulitzer, granting a pension equal to that of the widow's of ex-presidents, would have been morein accord with his feeling. With the exception of Mr. Lincoln, he knew no man of modern times who had done more for his country, for civilization, humanity and liberty than Hancock. [Applause.] He trusted the gentleman from Wisconsin (Price) would let the question come before this gathering tonight. Let this case go through, as cases of this kind Let this case go through, as cases of this kind should go through—a tribute of the repre-sentatives of the people to the widow of one of the bravest and most chivalric soldiers of our war.

On the question of passing the bill the vote stood 25 to 4 (Price, Zach Taylor, Johnston of Indiana and Winans. Mr. Price then raised the question of no

The previous question was, however, ordered on the bill, and it goes over until Monday. The house then adjourned until tomorrow.

"WE BE THE ROGERSES."

The Pan-Electric Men Before the Com-

Washington, March 19.—In the telephone Washington, March 19.—In the telephone investigation today, Dr. Rogers corrected his testimony of yesterday, so as to say that Looney had paid for his Pan-Electric interest with Indus mining stock that afterwards proved to be worthless. Then referring to his transfers of stock, Dr. Rogers added to the names he had already stated those of General Frank Armstrong, (of the Indian office at that time,) General Thomas Crittenden, General A. B. Upham, (now of the Indian office,) Colonel Bondinot, R. C. Wintersmith, A. D. Cook, the Chronicle and Republic (Washington newspapers). The witness sold stock to newsnewspapers). The witness sold stock to newspapers—gave it for advertising. Most of the stock was of the Rogers telephone and telegraph company. The witness said that possi-bly he had given American postal stock to Messrs. Money & Manning. The witness had expressly contemplated legislation for the American postal company, and it was so stated in the pamphlet, but the bill was never in-one of his pamphlets to Mr. Cox, knowing that legislation would be asked. The witness replied that he expected that Cox would do as Harris had, rise in congress The witness replied that he expected that Cox would do as Harris had, rise in congress and state that he was pecuniarily interested. The witness would have given Cox more than he had offered, because he was an illustrious man, and his name stood like the sun in the heavens, and he would have helped witness sell his stock. He did not think a million of stock would see the cox. He say no investigation. nis stock. He did not think a million of stock would seduce Cox. He saw no impropriety in giving stock to members. "Congressmen do not take vows of chastity and obedience," said the witness. "I went upon that principle," he added, to the amusement of the spectators.

J. Harris Rogers was then recalled. Mr. Oates then inquired if the witness was correctly reported in the interview published in the New York Tribune of March 16. Witness the New York Tribune of March 16. Witnes said the interview was correct.

Mr. Oates—It is set out there that Colonel Oates was an attorney for Senator Harris and Oates was an attorney for Senator Harris and Colonel Young.

Witness—It was, sir. Mr. Hine told me that Colonel Oates and Mr. Hanback were attorneys for Colonel Young and Senator Harris. He is a newspaper man, and said he had so reported it to the press. I believed it, and thought it was highly probable. I had heard before this, at Bladensburg, that you were backing Colonel Young in everything. I paid little attention to it then, but when Hine told me, and you acted so austerely, and your subsequent action, led me to believe that your subsequent action, led me to believe that there was great truth in what he said. Mr. Oates had suggested and Hanback concurred that Rogers and Oates Clark go over part of the correspondence together, and sort out such as they considered relevant. Rogers had de-clined to be questioned by Ontes as to his rea-sons for his belief. Witness described the occasion in the committee room, when Oates and Hanback were examining a mass or corres-pondence submitted by Rogers, assume the responsibility of passing upon the rele-vancy, and he accused Oates and Hanback of impropriety in making the suggestion, and of desiring to shirk their own labor and responsibility. Oates cross-examined witness with a view to convincing him that he had merely been asked to assist in assorting the letters and placing them in the order of their supposed relative importance, because of his familiarity with them, but the witness adhered to his assertion that an attempt had been made to use him improperly.

Casey Young was then called and sworn. He was asked to state all the facts within his knowledge about the organization of the company. He said in reply, that the statements made by Dr. Rogers and himself were in the main correct. There were some inaccuracies attributable to faults of memory, but substantially the statements about the organization of the company were correct. He had known attributable to failts of memory, but substantially the statements about the organization of the company were correct. He had known Dr. Rogers and his family intimately over thirty years, and when he came to congress in 1874, he had taken some interest in having the son, whom he regarded as a man of genius, appointed electrician of the house. When he was re-elected to congress in 1882, he saw Dr. Rogers, and that gentleman called attention to the inventions which his son had made. He saw Senator Harris and General Johnston and Mr. Atkins, at Rogers house, examining the infstrument, and he thought the instruments were very superior Dr. Rogers had been unfortunate, and in the different conversations which occurred subsequently, the proposition for a number of friends to join in developing the inventions began to take form. Rogers preferred to be associated with old friends on whose honor and integrity he could rely. Some time in March it was accorded that these resould he a meeting in Naw with old friends on whose honor and integrity he could rely. Some time in March it was agreed that there should be a meeting in New York. The meeting resulted finally in the drawing up of an agreement. He did not know that any definite terms were agreed upon, but he did know that there never was one word said at that time, or at any other time till long afterward, about the stock being a sife or described. being a gift or a donation. He had no doubt Dr. Rogers would have given it. That was his way of giving things to his friends. Witness was then proceeding to refer to the letters received by him from Dr. Rogers, and letters received by him from Dr. Rogers, and to comment upon them, with the statement that there was not a letter in his possession which reflected in any way on Dr. Rogers, or anybody else, when he was interrupted by an objection by Mr. Ranney, who said the letters ought to be read. Considerable discussion followed upon this point, which resulted in Young agreeing to produce all the correspondence relating to the subject under investigation, and the committee adjourned.

BLACKS IN THE WHITE HOUSE. An Address Indorsed by Governor Lee, of

Washington, March 19.—A delegation from the recent conference of the colored men of Virginia, visited the white house today, and read an address to the president thanking him for his expressions in regard to the future of the colored race, and expressing the hope that under democratic administration, the bitter controversy between the citizens of a bitter controversy between the citizens of a common country would be removed. The address is indorsed by Governor Lee, of Virginia, in the following words:

"This address having been submitted to me, I desire to add my cordial indorsement of the sentiment contained therein, and to lay stress upon the hope that the day may soon come when the political action of citizens of our country will not be divided by race or color, but by honest conviction as to what is best to be done to promote the growth of the republic."

The address is also indorsed by Congressman Barbour. The president, in reply, said that he was glad to know that matters partaking of the nature of a problem were being adjusted by the people themselves, and that while he had expressed himself thoroughly on such points, he was willing in every legitimate way to extend the encouragement

BLAIR'S EDUCATIONAL BILL An Effort to Call It Up in the House at an Earlier Date. Washington, March 19.—A determined effort was made today by the friends of the Blair educational bill, under the lead of Representative Willis, to secure some action on that or a kindred measure at the hands of the house committee on education. Last Monday Mr. Wise introduced an educational bill, which was referred to the committee. At a meeting today the proceedings at the last meeting, was postponed until the later part of April were reconsidered and the subject reopened Mr. McAdoo argued strongly in favor of the original bill, and Messrs, Thomas, Goff and Buck supported the substitute. Without final action on the matter the committee adjourned

HIS VIEWS ON THE PRESENT RAIL. WAY STRIKES.

He Denominates the Knights of Labor as a Lawles Mob, and Asserts That They are Intimidating the Laborers—A Significant Letter to the Citizens of Dallas, Texas, Etc.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 19 .- [Special.]ay Gould reached here last night on his yacht Atalanta, from a voyage to the Wind-ward islands, on which he embarked with his family on the 9th of January last. He landed in the city today, and at once went to the Western Union Telegraph office, where he was engaged for two or three hours conducting a telegraphic correspondence, and when he was found by a reporter Mr. Gould talked very freely on the subject of THE GREAT RAILROAD STRIKE

now in progress on the Texas Pacific and Gould system of railways.

"I first heard of the strike," said he, "in Havana last week." "Public sentiment," continued he, "is against this thing, and public sentiment will, I think, very soon make itself felt. I will show you that I am speaking by the card. Here," said Mr. Gould, "is a dispatch I have this moment received," and he exhibited a dispatch from New York embodying a series of resolutions adopted by the business men of Greenville, Hunt county, and Dallas, Texas, denouncing the strike, and assuring him of the hearty co-operation of the public in resisting the demands of the strikers.

THE DRIFT OF PUBLIC SENTIMENT. "That," continued Mr. Gould, "shows how ublic sentiment is drifting, and if you want o know what I think about it, here is the answer which I have just sent:

CHARLESTON, March 19.—To the citizens of the city of Dallas and of Greenville, Hunt county, Texas: No words of mine can sufficiently express my appreciation of the kind words of encourage ment and the good advice contained in your dis-patch. The present strike on our system was or-dered by the officers of a secret organization, because a neighboring railroad, in the control of the ighest court in the land, had seen fit to discharge one of their employes, and with no other complaint against the management of the Missouri Pacific, and without any warning or shadow of justification, the entire business of four states and one ter-ritory are completely paralyzed, and the millions of resident citizens are deprived of the railway facilties on which their entire prosperity depends, and to the enjoyment of which they have legal rights paramount to any secret organization, because their rights are secured to them by the laws of the land. The Missouri Pacific employs 14,319 men. Of these 3,717 only are concerned in the present strike, so that, in addition to these 3,700 conspirators, who are by force and intimidation stopping our trains, are thereby depriving the remaining 10,900 and their associate co-laborers of

Will not the public soon learn that it is they that pay the railway pay-rolls? The railway is the clearing house to receive and distribute this fund, which is fully 60 per cent of the entire gross earnings of a railway, and when they do they will probably find some method to regulate and control the labor engaged in railway transportation, and thus prevent such strikes as the present.

JAY GOULD.

NOT A STRIKE FOR WAGES.

WILL BREAK TO PIECES.
"I think," replied Mr. Gould, "that the organization of the Knights of Labor will break o pieces. We can't afford to have our business in the hands of men who attempt to interrupt the business of the whole country for a trivial cause. As soon as we can get plenty of men to run our trains without the aid of the Knights of Labor, there will be no difficulty in doing that. At present it is only a question of the dictation of a mob against law and order. That is all that is involved in this strike."

THE SOUTHERN STRIKERS. The Action of the Engineers—Business Men

Protest. SEDALIA, Mo., March 19 .- Labor Commissioner Kochlitzky and Governor Marmaduke passed through here going to Kansas City last night. The labor commissioner says the strikers are weakening all along the lines. The grievance committee of the locomotive engineers held a final meeting last evening and adjourned. They decided unanimously to stand by the company and take no part in the present difficulty. The brotherhood of firemen are said to stand with the engineers and also the brakemen. Engineers, firemen and brakemen have called a joint meeting for today. These men are getting restless under enforced idleness. It is surmised that they will resolve to take out the trains regardless of threats of the strikers. The strikers report receiving assistance from St. Paul, Minn., Vincennes, Ind., also from the merchants of three other cities.

EVERY VACANCY FILLED. "Permit me to thank the good citizens of Sherman for this unmistakable manifestation of their adherence to law and order. We shall bear this act in great remembrance, for it is the first pronounced declaration by any body of citizens against the flagrant and outrageous violation of law that has been witnessed at so many places during the last two weeks. The moral effect will be excellent, and I have no doubt that the example set by you will be followed by other localities at once."

THE SITUATION UNCHANGED.

St. Louis, March 19.—The situation in this city this morning shows absolutely no change. The suburban passenger trains have resumed running, and no further interference from the knights in this branch of railroad business is anticipated. No attempt has been made for some days past to move freight trains, and although the company's plans are not generally known, it is presumed that no attempt to resume the freight traffic will be made until the trouble is ended.

HOXIE TO POWDERLY.

HOXIE TO POWDERLY. St. Louis, March 19.—Vice-President Hoxie, of the Missouri Pacific railroad, has replied to Master-workman Powderly, of the Knights of Master-workman Powderly, of the Knights of Labor, declining to meet Powderly and the committee of knights to larrange a settlement of the pending difficulties. Hoxie's reply is very long, and treats exhaustively the whole subject of past and present strikes. It says that in the present instance the strikers have no grievance which it is in the power of the Missouri Pacific to redress, the grievance being against another road over which the Missouri Pacific has no control. Hence a conference could bring about no nesult. Mr. Hoxie says if Powderly and his associates have anything to suggest that will tend to correct the evils of the existing state of affairs, he will be glad to meet them as individuals, but declines to meet them as the representatives of the organization.

Mr. Hoxie's communication says:

Mr. Hoxie's communication says:

As this company now has contracts and agreements with various labor unions and organizations, and is not unwilling to continue to make such agreements as circumstances may require with such unions and organizations of its employes as have shown a disposition to carry out in good faith their undertakings; and as it has had in the past contracts with your organization, and its representatives have heretofore had conferences with yourself and other members of your executive committee, it is but just and courteous that I should give you the reasons for this company now declining to meet yourself and your executive committee, which it would have done before this strike was inaugurated. The usual object of such meetings between rallway companies, through their representatives and committees of their employes, is either to discuss such differences as may have arisen, in order that an understanding may be reached of the rights and relations existing between them, and such mutual concessions made as will avoid strikes and losses resulting therefrom, or, on the other hand, to settle and compromise such differences between parties after the grievances of the employes have been presented and redress refused, and after resorts have been had to a strike as the only remedy. In the present case, neither of the above reasons tor conference exists, but the anomaly is presented of a strike which is without redressable grievances, which was entered upon without notice to the company, and which has resulted in the wanton destruction of this company's property by violence and incendiarism, and in the almost total stoppage of its business by threats, intimidation and force. A review of the history of the past year is essential to a full understanding of the present condition. The differences between this company and its employes, resulting in the strike of March, 1885, was settled by the voluntary intercession of the executives and odicers of the states of Kan NOT A STRIKE FOR WAGES.

"That is the situation as I understand it," continued Mr. Gould, restoring the package of telegrams to his pocket. "This is not a strike for wages. The question of wages has nothing to do with it, and as far as the Missouri Pacific is concerned I don't know that anything is involved. The Knights of Labor insist that a discharged employe shall be reinstated by the judge, who refused to obey them. The strike is extended then to the Missouri Pacific, and what is the consequence? There are 3,717 men employed by that company who are on a strike. This causes a suspension of 6,099 others, who, in consequence of the strike, have nothing to do, while only 4,503 of the employes of the company are retained at work."

ment of the difficulties then pending with another corporation. Similar action has been taken by your order in these instances within the last eight months:

1. In threatening that the members of your order upon the Missouri Pacific rallroad would strike if it continued to exchange business with the Wabash road.

2. When the members of your order compelled the strike of a portion of the employes of this company in carrying out your boycott against the Mallory line at Galveston.

3. In the present instance, when the existing strike was forced upon this company by the discharge of one C. A. Hall by the receivers of the Texas and Pacific rallroad, in the handsof the United States court, and in the management of which this company has no voice or control—a fact which your order fully recognized when your committee made application to the receivers of that road for the reinstallment of said employes.

Instances might be cited where endeavors have been made to use this company for the purpose of boycotting individuals who had incurred the displeaure of your order. An especially aggravate case of the failure of your organization to carry out its agreements was that of the workmen at the Palestine shops, where, in the last days of February, they stopped work on account of an alleged grievance, which was thereupon adjusted in a manner to them satisfactory, so that they resumed work, with the agreement to continue work under the concessions made by the company, but within ten days thereafter they again left their work on the demand of your organization, in ordering the present strike and without any grievances whatever against this company. These continued stoppages of work of this company, without any cause, have become so frequent that believing, the future will be as unsettled as the past, it cannot consent to renew the agreement voluntarily and arbitrarily abrogated by your organization, and longer submit to it the management of this company, but in samueh as your organization, to discuss pending difficulties, or in

POWDERLY'S REPLY. KANSAS CITY, March 19.—The following reply was sent to Hoxie from here tonight, by Powderly:

Powderly:

Since you will not meet with me as the grand master workman of the Knights of Labor, I must decline to meet with you in any other capacity, and the responsibility for the future continuance of the strike must not be charged to the Knights of Labor, since the executive officer of that order will not be permitted to meet and co-operate with you in settling the strike. It was my intention, had in settling the strike. It was my intention, had you consented to meet with me, to endeavor to effect such a settlement as would prevent impositions being practiced upon the employes of your company by subordinate officials, and put an end to strikes on your lines for the future.

PRICE FIVE CENTS. GLADSTONE'S SCHEME

TO BE PRESENTED TO PARLIAMENT NEXT WEEK.

The Premier Asks the Public Not to Believe the Re-ports Current About His Plans-When He Will be Ready to Talk-Radical Defec-tions-Other Foreign News, Etc.

LONDON, March 19 .- Mr. Gladstone, this afternoon, in the house of commons, said he hoped to be able, during the coming week, to name the day for presenting the statement of his Irish proposals. Referring to the current rumors about the nature of the scheme of Irish reform, which he proposed to submit, Mr. Gladstone asked the members of the house to exercise prudent reserve in giving credence to any of them. He added that his statement would probably be followed by the introduction of a government bill to carry his plans into effect.

It is stated, on indisputable authority, that the radical defection is increasing, and that Morley, Bright, Osborne, Morgan and Broadhurst and other well known liberal members of parliament, will join Chamberlain.

The Prince Must Not be Too Stiff. St. Petersburg, March 19 .- The Journal ST. Petersburg declares that Prince Alexander must renounce his claim to a life title under his appointment by Turkey to the governorship of Eastern Roumelia, and content himself for a simple term of five years. The paper says the powers will insist on this before they ratify the action of Turkey. The Journal further declares that Prince Alexander makes a great mistake if he thinks the Greek difficulty will induence Europe in his favor.

The Socialists in Liege.

BRUSSELLS, March 19.—The parade of the unemployed socialists at Liege, the iron manufacturing center of Belgium, last evening, resulted in a disorderly demonstration. The mob took possession of many of the streets, shouting "Down with the capitalists," "Down with the bourgeoise," and attacking the shops. They wrecked the cafes and sacked the shops. The gendarmes finally, after a severe fight, succeeded in clearing the streets and restoring order. Several hundred who took part in the riot were placed under arrest. riot were placed under arrest.

VIENNA, March 19.—It is semi-officially announced that Russia is massing a large number of troops in Bessarabia. The object is supposed to be to exercise pressure upon Prince Alexander, whom the Russians suspect of conspiring with England to permanently cement the present union between Bulgaria and Eastern Roumelia, by maintaining his claim to life title to the governorship of the latter country, Russia claiming that his term is limited to five years.

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN RAIL-ROAD AND CITY SETTLED.

The New Contract-Points of Difference Satisfac rily Adjusted-Firemanic Plashes-A Hand-some Turnout-Died-A Runsway-En-gineer Injured-Fell in a Fit, Etc.

MACON, March 19. - [Special.] - The modified contract between the Covington and Macon road, and the city of Macon, has been agreed to, and at a called meeting of the council, today, it was formally signed and rat-

As changed the principal points are as

1. The Covington and Macon road granted, by the mayor and city council, the right to run their track through the city reserve, and through a portion of said park, and down the old Georgia railroad track, and cross at the old Augusta bridge; subject to a cross at the old Augusta bridge; subject to a contract between the Georgia Railroad and Banking f company, and the city of Macon, as assignee. Under this clause they run from Anderson's brick yard to the river.

2. The city conveys to the railroad the blocks 28 and 33, for the purpose of locating shops, and to constructing a Y near lot 28, in such manner as most convenient to connect the main line of road with the East Tennessee road. Also, to lay down through the city reroad. Also, to lay down through the city re serve, two sidetracks, commencing within 100 feet of the beginning of the Y, and connecting

3. In consideration of the payment of $1,-466.662 gold bearing bonds of the first mortgage, the city signs the contract with the Geor-gia road for the right of way from the brick yard to the junction with the Central, beyond the river, the city not to be held responsible for any litigation or damage suits esponsible for any higanon or damage seyond the river.

On the part of the railroad they agreed to the part of the railroad they agreed to be shown in Macon, to be locate and keep the shops in Macon, to be erected within two years after the 1st day of January, 1887, and when removed the right of way to revert to the city.

. The road agrees to pay $1,000 on the first day of January, every year, the first parment to be made at date of contract per right of way

3. The road agrees to place stone culvert on the road to prevent stagnant water accumula-ting, and the city to place all sewerage under track they desire without expense to the com-

4. In case the road refuses to pay the annuity the privileges all revert to the city, in case the mayor and council so desire, and they shall forfeit all rights and privileges through the city reserve in case the shops are removed without the consent of the city.

5. In case the Georgia road should ever desire to use the old track, the Covington and Macon is allowed right of way in a different direction, through the reserve, still paying the annuity, and the limits of the new right of way restricted to a certain limit by contract. The Covington and Macon is required to build crossings in the city and to keep up a neat and durable fence on each side the main line and branches, and police regulations are toex-tend over all that portion of the road lying within the city limits.

The city reserves the right of lawful taxation on the line in the city limits.

This is the substance of the contract as considered by the committee and the railroaders and at a called meeting today, as above stated, it was signed, and the question is forever settled.

AUGUSTA'S FIRE SERVICE.

The People Indignant at the Rates of the Insurance Companies.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 19 .- [Special.]-The poles are in position, and the work of adjusting the electric fire slarm in Augusta will begin Monday. Other additions to and improvements in the fire service of hte city are contemplated, and everything will be done in an endeavor to bring down the enormous rate exact-ed by the insurance companies. If this improvement of the service does not have the effect aimed, it is hinted that the citizens and business, men will create a local co-operative company for insurance against fire losses to the members thereof, thus shutting out the large insurance companies from doing business here. The people are ripe for such a movement, and the actions of the insurance agents will be watched with interest by the property owners especially. The rate required here is higher than asked elsewhere in this unjust.

A BURGLAR DETECTED.

ROBERT MOORE'S THEFT OF RAIL-ROAD TICKETS.

The Breaking Open of a Ticket Office-The Pursuit of the Burglar-The Mysterious Value Which Led to the Detection of the Criminal-Other Facts That Led to His Arrest, Etc.

McRAE, Ga., March 19 .- [Special.] -- Robert Moore, a white boy about 18 years of age, charged with burglary, was given a preliminary trial before Justice L. P. Jones, and in default of bond was sent to jail to await the next term of the superior court.

THE BURGLARY COMMITTED. About December 26th of last year, the railroad office was broken open in the night and the ticket safe of the company was stolen to-gether with a full stock of tickets. The next day after the robbing of the safe and a portion of the tickets were found in the swamp a short distance from the depot. The tickets recovered were carefully checked and the missing tickets noted, and the conductors of the road were notified to keep a close watch out for the stolen tickets the same not bearing the office stamp.

THE STRANGE VALISE. The matter thus rested until last Saturday when Mr. J. H. Williams, who lives a miles above town, with three or four bundles of rail-road tickets, and delivered them to the agent, asking him if he had not lost some tickets. Mr. O. H. Henley, the agent, replied that he had and at once identified the tickets as the ones stolen from hi-

THE BURGLAR RAN DOWN

Mr. Henley swore out a warrant for the ar-rest of Moore at once, and placed it in the hands of Deputy Sheriff John F. McRae, Jr., who ran Moore down, and arrested him at Towns, Ga., the following day, where Moore was engaged at work with some timber cutters. Moore has a bad record in this neighborhood, having been accused of several petty thefts around where he has been at work

At the close for the evidence the prosecution the close for the evidence the prosecution Mrs. Maxwell, at the instance of her turned in her chair to the jury, and, for the first time, lifting a heavy black veil from a pale and rather attractive face, made her statement to the jury, which was listened to with breathless interest by judge, jury, bar and crowded house. She did not deny pointing the pis-tol at Mr. Campbell, but claimed that when they asked for her husband she truthfully told them he was not at home; that they still insisted on coming in; that she asked to see the warrant, which they refused to show whereupon she informed them that they could not enter her house without lawful authority, and failing in every other effort to prevent them, she finally resorted to her pistol, which, she frankly told the jury she would have used had they not retired. She stated that she was frightened and excited and that her little children were clinging to her skirts. The jury returned a verdict of "not guilty."

Working up a Boom for Temperance-Col-Oxford, Ga., March 19,-[Special.]-Last night, at the call of Professor Henry Scomp, a large number of the students and citizens of Oxford met at the church chapel to discuss the pending temperance issue in Newton. Dr. Haygood was called to the chair. The subject was thoroughly discussed, and resulted in working up great enthusiasm on the question The prohibitionists are very hopeful of carry ing the county for temperance. Temperance will no doubt earry the day, but it will be a hotly contested fight. The election comes off in April. Among the ardent young prohibitionists who addressed the audience were Messrs. Paine, Hendry, Avary, Patillo, Jeffcoat, McIntosh and Speight. Prof. McIntosh also offered some suggestions as to the move. Dr. Haygood made a very sensible speech on the subject. After the speaking a prohibition club was organized with Prof. McIntosh, president; was organized with Prof. McPhosal, president, C. E. Patillo, vice-president, Prof. Corney, secretary. A committee on programme, consisting of the above named gentlemen and Messrs. Johnson and Reid, were appointed. The committee meets at Prof. Scomp's on Saturday

West Point, Ga., March 19.—[Special.]— Teday the corner stone of the college wa opened and a great number of people were discovering to the college was a constant of the college was a college with the college was a college was disappointed. There were a few tarnished coins of small denomination, constitutions and by-laws of the West Point fire company, a Montgomery Advertiser, a silver plate with the mayor and council's names engraved on it, a tin type likeness of Mrs. J. T. Zachry, a it, a tin type inchess of Mrs. J. T. Zachry, a copy of The ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, March 8, 1874, with a letter from W. G. Whidby, giving a short history of the then young giant. Probably if its history should be written now, from that time it would speak greater things. The corner stone contained the things enumer ated above, and had it re-mained there for twelve years longer nothing would have remained visible but the metal, for all the papers were in a poor state of preservation. The corner stone was a big thing when it was laid. Everybody was voice with the name of the depositor it was uietly placed in some other vault! The happy berson going his or her way, feeling that some nborn generation would view the little pres ent, but the heartless fire has destroyed th hopes (?) of many such. Had everything been put in the corner stone that day, 10th March, 1874, brought forth for that purpose, it would have taken a hogshead to have encompassed

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies over offered to the public for the SAYE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, wheth er of short or long standing. He refers to the ire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the trath of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single does has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of KENT'S VEGETABLE FAMILY FILLS will be sufficient. Use no other.

His reply came like a shoulder hit, and was with emphasis. He smiled all over when the question was propounded. His keen, piercing eye glittered, and he waited to see how his wer was received.

answer was received.

IABOR IN ALABAMA POLITICS.

It is a dagerous thing. In the state there are enough working men and others under their influence to wield a potent influence at the ballot bex. There are ten thousand Knights of Labor scattered over the state, well organized and equipped for the fray. This determination of the working element to enter state politics is an initial effort, and bids fair to be like a young whirlwind. The political leaders have already begun to flirt with it.

"What particular issues will be raised?" he was asked.

"The price of labor is not satisfactory. The

"The price of labor is not satisfactory. The interests, so far as the people are concerned, are gone. Something must be done to help the working men. They recognize they caunot live without capital, and know capital cannot live without labor; the chief object in preciping state solition; is, to advante the cannot live without labor; the chief object in entering state politics is to educate the working men to defend their employers and take care of themselves and to defend their mutual rights. Free labor cannot compete with convict labor, except where the mineral is finer. The laboring interests in the state are mining and mechanical."

"Will the Knights of Labor assume jurisdiction over the ballot box?"

"They will not, there are matters and interests that are so clear to their ests that are so clear to there welfare that they will do right, and support the man who is the most identified with the interests of the working man. They want more harmony between capital and labor."

Will the quesion of anti-convict labor be spring?"
"It will and it promises to be an important point. The anti-convict league will push the point. The anti-convict league will push the question, and they will find strong sympathizers in the Knights of Labor."

PROHIBITION IN THE FIELD.

General George L. Thomas, a prominent lumber dealer and member of the board of education, of this county, who is the husband of the president of the local union of the Women's Christian Temperance union of the Women's Christian Temperance union of the state, said: "As sure as you live to see it, prohibition is going to sweep Alabama before five years. They say she is not ready for it, I say she is, and wait until the next election." Will prohibition figure in the next state

"Yes, sir; we will put a candidate in the field at every ballot box from county officers up, and we are going to be felt this year. We can poll 50,000 votes, and that will do some good. Now, wait and see for yourself."

The municipal canvass is getting animated. There are now three candidates in the field for mayor, as follows: Colonel John P. Rhett, the present incumbent, who has served faithfully two terms: Colonel J. Quitman Marshall, the handsome and Courtly commandant of the Palmetto regiment, and Captain Henry Davis, a successful merchant and popular citizen. The only opposition to Colonel Rhett, who has made the best mayor Columbia has ever had, arises from the fact that he has held the office for two terms. Whether this anti-third term element in the community is strong enough to compass his defeat is problematical. I express the opinion that it is not. But should it be decided to select a new man, it would indeed be a difficult matter to find a better one than Colonel Marshall. He is a young, progressive and able man. For years he has worthily discharged the duties of trial justice in this city. He has also practiced at the bar with conspicuous success. He is very strong before the people, having a powerful backing among the members of the various military organizations composing his regiment. Should colonel Rhett be defeated Colonel Marshall will cartainly be the successful candidate. Captain Davis, who has been mentioned as a candidate, will not make the race. He is a most estimable gentle man and useful citizen, and the voters would make no mistake in giving him the office. Colonel W. McMaster, who was regarded as a most formidable opponent of Colonel Rhett, will not consent to be a candidate. The contest promises to be very interesting.

Indications for Atlanta and Georgia: Light local rains; stationary emperature. South Atlantic and East Gulf States: Southerly winds; stationary temperature; light rain.

MR. GLADSTONE'S Irish scheme will be announced next week. It is said that the defection of the radicals is spreading, and that Morley will secede with Chamberlain.

A BILL is to be reported to the house of representatives, recommending the creation of a bureau of public health, to be connected with the interior department. To this bureau will be transferred all the powers hitherto held by the national board of health.

AUGUSTA is rapidly getting her electric alarm system in operation. The property owners are greatly exercised over the high tariff of the fire insurance companies, and threaten, if reductions are not made, to organize a local protective association, through which Augusta can carry her own insur-

SPEAKER CARLISLE, having business which calls him to New York city for a couple of days, has left the gavel in care of Mr. Crisp, of Georgia. It is to be hoped that on some future occasion the house itself will imitate Speaker Carlisle's example, and put Mr. Crisp in the chair for a whole term.

FRANK HURD, who was cheated out of his seat for congress from Ohio, by the election managers of his district, hoped to regain it through a favorable report from the committee on elections. That committee has reached an adverse conclusion, and Mr. Hurd will have to sit on the outside yet awhile.

THE New York aldermen are in great trepidation. Alderman Jaehne, who is now in jail for accepting a bribe for his vote on the surface railway bill, has, it is stated, confessed the whole story, and given the names of his guilty comrades. The fear that he has done so has caused many of the aldermen to become very reticent in their move-

JAY GOULD, who has just landed in Charleston from a trip to the Windward islands, was interviewed yesterday by a CONSTITUTION correspondent on the great strikes in the southwest. He expressed the opinion that public sentiment was opposed to the strikes, and would in time find out that it was their own interests which were being hurt.

THE Blair bill has fallen upon hard places in the house of representatives. The committee to which it was referred is hostile to its passage, and has pigeon-holed the bill until the 3d of April, with the chance of still further postponing it, until the session will be so far advanced that legislative action cannot be taken. Mr. Willis proposes to introduce a similar bill, with the view of having it referred to a committee known to favor the Blair scheme, and thus bringing up

It is the habit of some of the mugwump papers to make fortnightly announcements of the existence of a tremendous division pending in the democratic party. They declare-once every two weeks-that the democratic party is opposed to the president, and that the upshot of it all will be the crippling of the executive and the destruction of the party. Mr. George William Curtis, the leading mugwump, indorses the administration, but intimates that he does so because the president has offended his

Now, this sort of thing is well enough for the mugwumps and the republicans to put under their pillows to dream over, but their hopes will never be realized, and their predictions will never come true. There are differences among democrats, but these differences are no greater and no more important than those that exist among republicans. There are democrats who do not relish some of the acts of the president-some who do not admire his methods-but they have no more intention of breaking up the democratic party on this account than they have of indorsing Blaineism. There are a great many democrats—a majority of them, in fact-who do not believe in the sham civil service reform which has been carried on under republican auspices, but the president is responsible neither for the law nor for the details of its execution. It is the law, and it is his duty to see that it is carried out. The fact that he has made the commission a democratic body shows that he is not altogether pleased with some of the results of the law as it was administered by a republican board.

We have heard a good deal, too, in regard to the differences between the president and Senator Eustis. The senator was credited at one time with making some very severe animadversions on the policy of the president, but he has evidently thought better of the matter, for we find him recently in conference with Mr. Cleveland. An outline of that conference has been published by authority of the president, and there can be no doubt that Senator Eustis, in the friendliest manner possible, gave him some excellent advice. From first to last, every word uttered in the conference showed that the interest of both men were centered in the success of the democratic party, which means the success of honest government. The republicans and the mugwumps are welcome to any satisfaction they may derive from the situation. The democrats were never more harmonious as democrats, and when the time comes the party will be a unit in opposing the republican organizaThe Reorganized Civil Service Commission.

Mr. John H. Oberly, who succeeds Mr Trenholm as a member of the civil service commission, appears to be somewhat of a puzzle, so far as his reform ideas are concerned. According to the Washington Post, which is on the spot-or, as the moderns say, directly under the spont-Mr. Oberly, although an active democrat, is opposed to the spoils system in politics; whereas, on the other hand, the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, who carries the bloody shirt in his hip pocket, declares that Mr. Oberly is a partisan whose rankness and vileness is cal-culated to wither—and smother where it cannot wither-the fair young buds of reform, which, according to the mugwumpians, have just begun to bourgeon. THE CONSTITUTION is of the opinion that it is a few weeks too early to make any very great fass over Mr. Oberly. If the statement of the Washington Post is true, the public may rest 'assured that "active" democracy will do its perfect work so far as Mr. Oberly has anything to do with the commission. THE CONSTITUTION ventures to hope, too, now that the board is getting in trim, that genuine reform will take the place of the sham reform over which the mugwumpians have been felicitating themselves. To reinstate the spoils system would be merely to please the thugwumpians, and the administration can afford to disregard the demands of both the mugwumpians and the thugwumpians. Genuine civil service reform is that which recognizes the fact that honest, efficient democrats are entitled to the offices under a democratic administration. To this complexion it must come at last, and the sooner the better for the country and for the administration. The Educational Bill.

It is plain that the Blair bill would b passed by a large majority if a vote could be reached upon it, but it is equally plain that the house committee on education does not intend to report it until a report would be valueless-until the house calendar is well filled with bills. If possible, the bill is to be smothered in the committee room. As a preliminary movement, the committee has resolved to postpone consideration of the measure until a d y in April, and when that day arrives an efort will be made in the committee to postpone a report indefinitely. The friends of the bill are not, however, idle, and they have introduced a resolution calling upon the committee on education to report the bill in some shape at an early day. The resolution has not come up in the house, but it will soon be reached.

The composition of the committee is well known, so far as the Blair bill is concerned. Messrs, Candler of this state, Welles of Kentucky, Whiting of Massachusetts, Campbell of Pennsylvania, and O'Donnell of Michigan, are in favor of the Blair bill. Mr. Miller, of Texas, considers it the duty of the state to educate its own people, and Messrs. Mayburry, of Michigan, and Burns, of Missouri, are said to entertain similar views. Mr. Mahoney, of New York, thinks the Catholics should receive separate recognition if there is to be an appropriation. Very few, if any, Catholics, support the Blair bill, or any other liberal appropriation in aid of popular education. Mr. Strait, of Minnesota, thinks the states are able to maintain their own educational establishments, and Mr. Taylor, of Ohio, is inclined to take a similar view of the subject. Mr. Aiken, of South Carolina, chairman of the committee, is ill at home, and probably will not be able to participate in the consideration of the bill. In short, the committee is against the bill. The truth is, the bill is involved in the effort to reduce the tariff; and a considerable number who are not against it upon its merits, are opposing the appropriation because, in connection with the demands for a new navy, it would be used to urge the i expediency of a reduction of the tariff. Its fate is, therefore, no longer bright; but if the education committee can be induced to report the bill, it will go through, regardless of the tariff measure or the nature of the report of the committee on education. At present the entanglement of interests ren#### ders its chances somewhat doubtful. The Irish Problem in Parliament.

Mr. Gladstone is about to propose a plan for the settlement of the Irish question, and the English-speaking world awaits with interest, if not anxiety, an announcement of the plan, which will doubtless be made next week. If the plan could be confined to Ireland, there would not be so much anxiety over it, at least in England; but all concede that any reform in relation to local matters or land tenure in Ireland must be followed by similar reforms in England, Scotland and Wales. The Gladstone programme is, therefore, the inauguration of a reform that will change the nature of British institutions. Class rule is endangered by every step that the mass of the people take. Politics in England are no longer conducted wholly in the interests of the aristocracy, and the chances are that we are about to witness the opening of an era in which the laboring people of Great Britain will have a fairer, if not a fair, chance, in the struggle of exist-

Until Mr. Gladstone's programme is un folded, the current speculations may as well be discarded; for they are clearly untrustworthy. They are mere guesses at the truth. Whether home rule will be joined with a land expropriation scheme, cannot be ascertained. Whether the land scheme looks to the extinction of landlordism altogether in Ireland, is equally uncertain. The most that is known is this: Mr. Gladstone has promised to present his plan for the pacification of Ireland next week, and upon the reception of this scheme will depend the life of the present house of commons. If the government is defeated, it is plain that the premier will appeal to the people, and then the Irish question will be passed upon in all its length and breadth. It is something to know that Mr. Parnell has succeeded in bringing the people of England face to face with the troubles and difficulties of the Irish people. Ireland has nothing to lose and much to gain.

CONGRESSMAN REAGAN suffered from Bright's disease for years. By adhering to a certain formula of diet he recovered completely. The formula is as follows: Keep the body in the seme temperature as nearly as possible. Wear fannel. Drink as much milk as desired—the more the better-while eating. Can drink chocolate. Don't use stimulants-no wine, alcoholic, spirituous or malt llquors. Do not drink tea or coffee. Eat bread moderately. Never eat hot cakes with butter. Eat dry toast. No pastry or pudding. Eat broiled and rossted meats, but not stewed or boiled or fried. Do not est salads. Avoid all kinds of spices. Avoid asparagus above all things. Onions boiled and carrots are good. Eat strawberries, ripe pears and stewed fruits. Avoid raspberries. Do not eat cheese or honey. Must not smoke or chew tobacco. A teaspoonful of bi-carbonate of soda two or three times a week will correct any deposit. This regimen, Mr. Reagan believes, saved his life and now maintains a high order of health.

THOUGH we should be as rigid in the matter of drink as the Rechabites, and as careful in eating as the vegetarians, poison would still confront us at every step. The investigations of the Massachusetts board of health show that the use of arsenic as coloring material fo wall paper, upholstering goods, dress patterns, curtains and candy is far more general than has been supposed. From a square yard of one kind of dress fabric enough arsenic was btained to kill fifty men, while wall papers were found to be almost equally poisonous we try to make ourselves comfortable and indulge in any of the ornamental flourishes existence we run a deadly risk.

A SERIOUS-MINDED citizen of Brooklyn rushes into print with an emphatic protes against the methods of the Salvation army. He savs:

While standing in Fullon street one evening I heard a blowing of horns and discordant shouting and made way for a motely crowd of men, boys and maidens. When one of the girls in the crowd, with "Salvation Army" in gill letters on her hat, reached the spot where I was standing she tickled me under the chin and said, "Come to Jesus, sonny," As I wended my way home I wondered it his fair damsel would ever, through the association with the other saints of the Salvation army. ms fair damsel would ever, through the association with the other saints of the Salvation army earn to blush without the aid of an electric bat

Matters have, indeed, come to a pretty pass when grave and sober citizens can thus be as saulted by the Salvation army girls, Is there no remedy for these outrages:

THE following from an eminent health au-

Many people who fancy that milk disagrees with them may find that by adding cream to make it richer it will agree with them perfectly. Buttermilk is of great value as well as sour milk, the lactic acid being of use to the digestion. Buttermilk, it is said, has a separate value as enabling persons who drink it to dispense with stimulants. In Europe is a whey cure for rheumatic and dyspeptics, where many have found great relief. Milk itself contains all the substances needed to sustain life. Among the greatest nutritive foods may be named beef, mutton, fish, eggs, milk, bread, oatmeal, rice, ripe fruits, etc. No one food is to be taken altogether to the omission of others. It has been found that an animal fed exclusively on one kind of food will not be nourished, and if on purely gelatinous substances it will die. Planteating animals are as strong as fiesh-eating animals are as strong as fiesh-eating animals and people who live on one kind of food, like black bread, may be as vigorous as those who live on beef; yet from the structure of the teeth and the conformation of the stomach and intestines, physiologists judge that man is omnivorous, and facts in his habits confirm this conclusion. The people in some tropical countries live almost entirely upon vegetable food, while those of the Arctic regions are confined chiefly to animal foods.

The Carrollton Outrage

From the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The news we print this morning of the killing of more than a dozen negroesat Carrollton, in the neighboring state of Mississippi, is so awful as to be almost incredible. We are in recept of such meagre dispatches about this horror, that we hope the story is greatly exaggerated. If it be true, however, that only one negro was killed in the courthouse of Carroll county, the temple of justice, while in attendance on a trial and giving his testimony; if it be shown that armed men rode up to that courthouse, and, in the presence of the judge, shot down witnesses, it will demand the utmost investigation by Governor Lowry and all others in Mississippi to whom the administration of the laws belongs, and the severest punishment of the men'guilty of this outrage, this assault on the honor of the state. We do not doubt that this will be done, and that the promptness with which justice will be executed in this case will satisfy the whole world that Mississippi can and will punish murder, and prove that the outrage perpetrated by some half a hundred men in Carroll is abhorred and punished by all the good people of the state.

We trust the news is false or exaggerated, or, if it is not, that the severest punishment will be meted out to the murderers. ourthouse of Carroll county, the temple of justice cation wich occurred a few evenings since atChrist Church between Rev. H. H. Oberly, the rector, and Miss Mayo, a prominent member of his congregation, during which, it is arserted, the lady lost her temper and slapped the minister's face. The trouble, it is reported, originated about the bagtismal font. Miss Mayo wanted the pastor to wait until she had the font arranged before he would administer the sacrament. Mr. Oberly, anuoyed at Miss Mayo's interference, objected. She insisted upon having her own way about it. The rector remonstrated, and said he did not like such interference in the discharge of his clerical duties. The lady's eyes flashed fire at his. Her temper could not brook such a reproof, and she struck the clergyman a resounding blow on the cheek. It was a dramatic tableau, that shocked those present and furnished food for gossiping tongues. Miss Mayo, it is stated, turned on her heel after the episode and walked out of the church. A World reporter, hearing of the occurrence, visited Rev. Mr. Oberly at the parsonage, at No. 1004 East Jersey street, informed him of the reports in circulation, and asked for a correct version of the affair. "Why do you want to know about this matter?" said the rector.

On being told that it was for publication, Mr. Oberly said rather excitedly: "I positively decline to say anything about the affair."

The reporter suggested that it would perhaps be well to have a correct statement printed so as to avoid misrepresentation."

distressed about it.

Miss Mayo is about forty-five of age and very active in charitable undertakings. She is a member of the celebrated Mayo family of Richmoud, Va. The Elizabeth branch of the family is among the oldest in the city, and occupies a fashionable residence on Murray street. A sister of Miss Mayo is married to General Archie Gracie, of the confederate army, who was forced to leave Elizabeth at the outbreak of the war for uttering disloyal sentiments. He afterwards became a gallant soldier on the southern side.

Miss Mayo has been noted for her eccentricity. While very wealthy, she dresses in a plain garb, not unlike that of sisters of charity. She busies herself greatly about church matters and frequently visits the county jail and other places on missionary work, trying to reclaim the failen and hardened criminals. She is, however, possessed of a temper. She is tall, finely proportioned and in her younger days was a beautiful woman. Some years ago Miss Mayo ordered an iron cofin from J. C. Ogden, now a member of the city council and one of the chief undertakers in town. She frequently visited his store and spent hours in gazing on the casket which was to be her last resting place. In some manner this leaked out and got into print. The place was instantly besieged by scores of fashionable ladies who pleaded hard to be permitted to see Miss Mayo's collin. The undertaker was very angry and puzzled how to get rid of his fair visitors. The lady herself became highly indignant when she heard of the matter and peremptorily refused to pay for the casket, which Mr. Ogden still has in his possession. He is out over $200 by the transaction.

Appearance of Prominent Senators.

Vashington Correspondent Boston Herald. The finest looking man in the senate is un uestionably Butler, of South Carolina. He has a noble figure, and though he wears a wooden leg, he bears himself gracefully. His face, too, is intellectual, dignified and with few marks of age. Wade Hampton, his colleague, is chiefly noticeable for his heavy and carefully cultivated gray moustache, which does not really add to his dignity. He, too, has but one leg. Morgan, of Alabama, is tall, slender, with a face that indicates refinement and culture. I find that the correspondents agree with me in my estimate of his power. They rate him as the best informed man in the senate, and all unite fu saying that the sentences that constitute his specches are the best formed that come from any senator. He is a very able lawyer, too. Plumb, of Kansas, is the most rapid talker. He is a bright man, but altogether careless as regards his style, oble figure, and though he wears a wooden leg ansas, is the most rapid talker. and does not look younger than his years, by any means. The most unpleasant looking man in the senate is Mahone. He dresses very carefully and has an enormous expanse of shirt bosom, as if just got up for an evening party, but his reculiar hair and long beard, of a not attractive gray color, with his singular form and cast of countenance, are suggestive of a spider. Vest, of Missouri, is the next homeliest man in the senate. He, too, is small enough to make his name appropriate, and his countenance is not agreeable. His voice, too, is bad, yet he is generally considered the most interesting speaker of that body. This because what he says is almost sure to be so pungent. He gets the attention of his own side, who were almost all in their seats when he spoke two hours and a half on the Dakota bill the other day. He strikes me as a smart and specious, rather than a strong man, however.

MISS CLEVELAND ON DRESS.

A lady sends the following letter to The Transcript, which she received from Miss Cleveland in rehouse immodest dressing in society. A lady sends the following letter to The Transcript, which she received from Miss Cleveland in response to a note of inquiry on the subject:

I am very glad you have spoken to me about this matter, for it gives me an opportunity to say to you, and through you perhaps to others, what I have long wished but have had no opportunity to say. The newspaper statement with regard to my "immodest dress" and its influence in encouraging shocking scarcity of waists and sleeves in other women's dress has been sent me several times with accompanying comments, but always anonymously, so that I have been unable to reply, had I deemed the animus of the communication honest enough to justify an honest response. That has not always been the case. But today I received a note from a person who speaks of himself as an aged clergyman, who signs his full name to the communication and seems to be genuinely concerned and friendly, although I scarcely can reconcile True interest and true respect with which he signs himself as consistent with the credence which he has given apparently to the statement which forms the occasion of his protest. I should hardly feel true interest or true respect for a person whom I believed to be doing what the newspaper sip represents me to be doing what the newspaper sip represents me to be doing what the newspaper sip represents me to be doing, namely; using the brief prominence of my position to encourage habits in dress and manners which are subversive of whatsoever things are pure, lovely, honest and of good report. Such I believe the immodest dress of some few society women to be, and against such immodesty I have made that silent protest which it is every woman's right and duty to make by having my own dress waist cut in a style which, so far as modesty is concerned, I should be quite which, so far as modesty is concerned. General Gossip and Editorial Short Stope Caught on the Rau.

will become a candidate for governor, is, I believe, unfounded. I don't think that he is yet ready to earnest friends in the state, however, and if he does determine to take a hand in the fight, it will play havoc with some of the slates which have already been prepared. Why, if he were to show his scarred face from the hustings, and talk a little 61-'65, to these old soldiers, they would soon forget that anybody else was running, particularly when they recalled the fact that he was once legally elected to the office."

Captain W. B. Burnett, of Athens, was in the city a few days ago in company with Sen Henry Carlton, who is generally considered a dark horse of considerable prominence in the pendir gubernatorial contest. Captain Burnett is one of the wheel horses of the democracy of the eighth district, and is also one of the shrewdest and best posted politicians in the state. He is a terror on dark horses and knows just when and how to take advantage of an opportunity as well as any man living. When asked if Senator Carlton wo the race, he replied, with a wink of his off eye: "Just wait!"

"The adoption of the two-thirds rule," said another gentleman, "simply means that the nomin of the convention will be some one who is not now far advanced in the race. Major Bacon will come to the convention with a big following, but he will certainly fall far short of a two-third vote. Judge Simmons's friends are confident that he will show on the first ballot a larger vote than that of Major Bacon, but they certainly do not count on a twothirds vote on that ballot. Indeed, no sens man now believes that either will come to the convention with such a decisive following as insure nomination on the first ballot, under the two-thirds rule."

"But will that rule be adopted?" "No doubt about it in my mind-none whatever. It is a democratic principle which will not be overthrown in any man's favor, and has become an unwritten law in governing the conventions of this state. But as both Simmons and Bacon are confident of nomination, even with the two-thirds rule, I suppose neither of them will oppose its Captain Arnold, formerly "Stonewall" Jackson's adjutant-general, says: "Staunton is a place of about 7,000 people, but its bank deposits are over $2,000,000 This is explained by the fact that it has three fire insurance and two life insurance companies, all of them prosperous." There is a hint in this for Atlanta. Her great need is capital. The accumulation of $2,000,000 insurance surplus would be worth a greatdeal. The work done by the Atlanta Home with less than a quarter of a million indicates what might be done.

"The murder of Chinese in this country," said a leading Methodist, "will certainly lead to the massacre of Americans in China. Our missionaries to be sacrificed any day. Fortunately the Georgia missionaries to China are in Shanghai where they are comparatively safe with a large English quarter and war ships in the harbor. There will likely to be no uprising of the natives in that city. But you will soon hear deplorable news from the interior of China, or I am mistaken."

Whitney, next to Lamar, is nearest the presidential heart. Whitney is the swell of the cabinet. He is the best-dressed man in Washington, and is proud of it. His clothes are made in New York by a fashionable tailor, who selects him a suit whenever he finds anything in stock that he thinks would suit the secretary's fastidious taste. Sometimes he gets half a dozen suits a mouth. The secretary is partial to white faunted in the summer, but during the remaining months he wears the regulation Prince Albert coat with trousers of gray or some darker material. The Prince Albert is usually unbuttoned, and he has a fashion when talking to you of grabbing the coat by the button and throwing the lapel back on the shoulder. The only article of jewelry visible in the secretary's attree is a black-pearl scarf-pln, which is said to have cost him $1,000.

THE ATLANTA KNIGHTS ADDRESS-ED BY MR. TREVELLICK.

An Interview With Mr. Trevellick, of Michigan—He Addresses a Large Meeting of Citizens in the Basement of the Court House Upon the Flatform of the Organization, Etc.

Yesterday's Constitution contained the announcement that Captain Richard Trevel-lick, of Michigan, would address the Knights of Labor in the evening at the county court A CONSTITUTION man met Captain Trevel-lick at the Kimball house yesterday m raing. He was found to be a fine looking, soldierly built man apparently about fifty-five. Cap-tain Trevellick expressed himself as delighted with the appearance, of Atlanta, and said it had the push and energy of a northwestern city. He had seen no place in the south like it. In the course of his conversation on the labor troubles over the country, he expressed his approval of arbitration as the best mode of settling these differences. The action of the strikers and railroad receivers in Texas, in selecting a United States judge for arbitrator, was highly judicious. On a recent occasion in Providence, Captain Trevellick told the parties concerned that he would leave the matter to a man whom he had never seen, and whose name he did not know.

"Well, you are certainly unbiased," said both parties. "Who is the man you would suggest?"
"Your United States district judge here, This was agreed to, and in ten minutes an adjustment was reached. Drifting away from labor matters, the reporter said: "Captain, you are an Englishman?"

"Well, it is very difficult to say. My father was a New Yorker. I was born on the island of St. Mary's, in the British channel, while my father was at sea. The house in which I was born has belonged to my ancestors for eight hundred years. It was built thirty years before the reign of King John, and is one of the oldest houses in existence. A portion of my life was passed at sea, and I was for a long time chief officer of an East Indian vessel." Captain Trevellick is an exceedingly interesting man to talk to. HIS SPEECH LAST NIGHT. The basement of the court house was packed to its utmost capacity with an audience assembled to hear an address from R. F. Trevellick, of Michigan, who is making a tour of the southern states in the interest of the Knights of Laber.

The meeting was called to order at 8 o'clock by Mr. G. K. Woodward, chairman. On the stage were Mr. Trevellick, Samson S. Booth, M. E. Stone, William Wallace, Andy White, W. A. Harbin, Robert Miller and W. G. New-

Mr. Woodward, upon calling the meeting to order, congratulated the working men of Atlanta upon their being present in such large numbers, as it indicated the great interest that was felt in the labor movement. He then introduced Mr. Trevellick, the orator of the occasion, who opened his remarks with a DEFENSE OF THE KNIGHTS of Labor against charges that had been made of Labor against charges that had been made against the organization by some of the leading capitalists of the country.

He had heard it stated that some of the Knights of Labors were drunkards. This, however, did not carry with it any fact to show that all the Knights were drunkards. He had heard of preachers, congressmen, senators and lawyers being drunk, but there was nothing to show that all of any of the classes named were drinkers to excess. He had also heard of preachers kissing other mens' wives. There was nothing unnatural in that. He might do the same thing if he got the chance, but he would not tell it.

Among the twelve apostles there was one Judas, and it would not surprise him if there was more than one in the average lodge of was more than one in the average lodge of Knights of Labor. The only way to accom-plish anything was by united action. The politicians were to blame for the present condition of the workingmen. The laboring element had been told by them that they were well paid and well cared for.

THEY SIMPLY LIED in saying this, and he desired that the news-na saying this, and he desired that the newspapers should note this statement. [Applause].

He wanted to see the day come when every mechanic would wear an insignia of office, showing that he belonged to the Knights of Labor. Then there would be no scabs or rationally appropriately when there would be a statement of the stateme rapidly approaching when there would be rapidly [approaching when there would be none.

In the early history of Rome an edict was sent forth that it was illegal for the people to meet together and discuss public questions. The courts decided that it would be conspiracy, and it was conspiracy in one way. The people were being oppressed by the powers and they wanted to hold meetings to discuss what they could do to better their condition. This edict blocked progress in civilization. Education was suspended and knowledge failed to grow. This state of affairs continued until labor organizations

REMEDIED THE EVIL.

The rich men tell the working men to go to work, that they will look after the politics and the welfare of the laboring classes.

Now we have been listening to them and doing as they tell us for a long time, and having done so we now propose that the working men shall also run the machinery of the government. Congressmen get up in the halls at Washington and tell the farmer to stick to his plow, the mechanic halls at Washington and tell the farmer to stick to his plow, the mechanic to the workshop, and that they will run the wheels of the government. We do not want to break any laws, but we are able, and we will elect men to congress who will legislate in the interest of the laboring classes, and make laws to suit our side of the question. [Cheers] The Knights would not use a sword in the fight. They would rely on the ballot to give them the control of the government. The Knights look out upon the world—not our world, but the world of the people—and find that its inhabitants consist of two classes.

Iwo classes.

AUTOCRAT AND DEMOCRAT.

Not the democrate in a political sense; I do not mean that, as I hold that there is neither a democratic or republican party in the uniou. I say, as a Knight of Labor, to those present who are not Knights, don't get frightened this early in the fight, for you will get frightened tworse before we get through with you. When we get control of the state and the national government, we will say that no child under fifteen years of age shall be put to work in a factory or any other enterprise, and not then unless he or she has had a good primary education.

[Applause.]

[Applause.]
The speaker said that the land laws of the The speaker said that the land laws of the United States were not a bit better than they were in England. The only reason why any of the laborers in this country had homes was because there was more land here than the thieving congressmen could steal. (Applause.) Referring to the manner in which some cotton factories paid for labor, he said that in South Carolina there were five cotton factories and none of them pay $5 in a year to their employes.

THEY GAVE THEM TICKETS

on the factory store, and not money.

This state of affairs would not last long, as the Knights were after them. In Pennsylvania some time ago women and children had been turned out of doors in a heavy snowstorm because they could not pay their rents. He said that the man who turned his wife out of doors would have to die, and he would stand the consequences. The Knights say that they are willing to give the government any land it needs for public purposes, but they will not allow congressmen to give and sell lands to capitalists who buy for speculative purposes.

This land must be kept and given to the Knights and their children. The poor man pays the taxes of the country, and the capitalist gets his benefits free.

The speaker then referred to convict labor when brought in opposition to free labor. He said that the Knights wanted to see the mur-derer and the barn burner punished for his crime, but they were opposed to the state crime, but they were opposed to the state skilling the convicts into slavery when their labor destroyed the into slavery when their labor destroyed the labor of the working man.

This evil could be corrected by the united action of the Knights of Labor. One of the first acts of the present democratic administration was a strike at free labor. Daniel Manning let the contract to furnish brick for a government building at Peoria, Ill., to the lessees of the convicts at Joliet prison. He soon found that the Knights would not stand that, and an act was passed by congress prohibiting the use of material furnished by convict labor, and we will make the authorities in this state do the same thing before by convict labor, and we will make the authorities in this state do the same thing before we get through with them. [Applause.] We don't propose to let convicts remain idle while they are serving out their sentences, but we do propose to stop the present system of managing the convicts in this state. Another thing that the Knights of Labor will demand is this, that when a symman does the work of a ran she when a woman does the work of a man she when a woman does the work of a man she SHALL RECEIVE A MAN'S PAY.

When the Knights get in power, the capitalist and the spider-legged dude

MAN-HUNTIN VIRGINIA.

A Burglar and Murderer Run Down and Captured.

RICHMOND, Va., March 19 .- The man who has been hunted through Chesterfield county, across the river from Richmond, for three days, as the burglar who, last Wednesday morning, entered the grocery store of Herman Schmidt, and attempted to blow open the safe, and who the same morning shot Police Sergeant Brooks at the depot and escaped, was captured this evening. About fifteen Richmond police, the Chesterfield county constabulary, and a number of volunteers, joined in the hunt, and on Wednesday evening two Richmond officers came up with him at Coalfield station and fired at him with shotgans, but he again escaped to the woods. From the prisoner's statement that in his effort to get south through Chesterfield county, and at the same time clude his pursuers, he lost his way in the woods and gave up hope in that direction, and turned back to try and get days, as the burglar who, last Wednesday that direction, and turned back to try and get that direction, and turned back to try and get north. He crossed the river to Richmond this evening on Belle Is's bridge, but as soon as he landed he was discovered and pursued by the workmen in the Tredegar works, and jumped into a boat and attempted to recross the river. The pursuers followed and captured him in mid-river, the fugitive making no resistance, although armed with a revolver. The prisoner gives the name of Charles Shaw and says he lives at 243 Pearl street, New York. He is a shoemaker by trade, and says he has been a crook for about a year. He acknowledges the shooting of the officer at the depot, but denies the burglary and safe blowing. The excitement when the prisoner was brought to the city was intense and it rewas brought to the city was intense, and it required a detail of police to escort him through the crowds in the streets to the police station. An examination showed that he had received a number of bird shot in his legs. Notwithstanding his denial of the burglary, the evidence against him is very positive.

CORRUPT WARD POLITICS. The Guilty Alderman Telling Stories on His

Confederates. New York, Mard 19.—The arrest of Alderman Jaehne, on an indictment charging him with bribery in the matter of the charter of the Broadway surface road, has had an effect on politicians fairly comparable to an earthquake. Inspector Byrnes claims to have worked himself so far into Jaehne's confidence that he acknowledged having received treater. worked himself so far into Jaehne's confidence that he acknowledged having received twenty thousand dollars for his vote on that measure, and told who besides himself was bribed, and who paid this money to them. Jaehne is perfectly composed, and says Byrnes's story of his confession is a pure fabrication. Byrnes says that among other things Jaehne described how one of the bribed aldermen had employed a lawyer and skilled accountant to so fix his lawver and skilled accountant, to so fix his lawyer and skilled accountant, to so hx his books as to account for the large accessions to his bank account about the time when this bribe money was being distributed. It was currently reported that Alderman Fulgraff would be arrested today, but if he had been it has not been known. More indictments were looked for today, but although about twenty indictments were handed in by the grand jury.

looked for today, but although about twenty indictments were handed in by the grand jury, they did not embrace any against the aldermen. Alderman Pearson, one of those under a cloud, was called today as a witness before the senate committee of investigation, but failed to respond, and this added a fresh impetus to the report that some of Inchne's partners in bribe-taking have some of Jaehne's partners in bribe-taking have absconded. Rumor is busy with the names of absconded. Rumor is busy with the names of all who were in the board when the Broadway franchise was passed. Inspector Byrnes was interviewed today upon this subject. He refused to say who had, according to his information, been guilty of bribe-taking, but said he could absolutely exonerate two members—Aldermen Grant and O'Connor, one a democrat and the other a republican. and the other a republican.

KILLED BY AN ENRAGED HUSBAND A Returned Texan Hears Tales About His

RICHMOND, Va., March 19.—A special from Salem, Roanoke county, Va., says: A horrible double murder was committed on Back creek, this county, Wednesday night. A man named Griffey, who has a wife living on Back creek, had just returned from Texas where, it is alleged, he served a term in the penitentiary. His wife refused to recognize him, and learning that John and Pickett Metz, sons of Mr. William Metz, had been visiting his wife in his absence, Griffey went to their home, called one of the young men out and shot him through the heart. He then entered the house and the heart. He then entered the house and shot the other young man through the right breast. The murdered young men were aged respectively about seventeen and eighteen years. Griffey is at large.

CHICAGO, March 19.—Six days since the terrible murder and robbery on the Rock Island railway took place and yet no clue to the perpetrators has been found. The endeavors of the detectives seemed to be centered upon the capture of Mike Humphries, and a man known as Texas. Last night it was found that Humphries had been working in the Grape Creek mines five weeks, and was there the night of the robbery. Texas turned up at the Daily News office this morning. The night of the robbery he was visiting friends on Twenty-second street until 10 o'clock, and then he went home on Twenty-ninth street, and remained there till Monday.

Wholesale Arrest of Thieves Who Have Beet Steeling From the Railroad-A Private Detective Gets in Trouble-The Sweat Brothers Case-For Cruelty to Animals.

Jake N. Fleishman, the private detective, was yesterday bound over to the city court, by Judge Tanner. Fleischman was arrested on a warrant charging him with cheating and swindling. Several days ago, R. W. Burnett, a stranger in the city, went to a house on Line street, and when he come away carried with him, through a joke, a small breastpin belonging to one of the women. Soon after Burnett left with the pin, Fleishman entered the house, and hearing o the woman's loss, agreed to find the piu. He succeeded in tracing the pin to Burnett and asked him to accompany him to the woman's house where he gave up the pin. After Burnett had surrendered the pin Fleishman told him that he would prosecute him for larceny unless he gave up a ten dollar bill. Burnett gave up the money and left. This was three or four days ago. Day before yesterday Burnett reported the exact facts of the case to Chief Connolly, and asked what to do. The chief advised him to swear out a warrant charging Fleishman, with cheating and swindling. Burnett did so, and yesterday. Fleishman was arnett did so, and yesterday Flesihman was ar-rested and taken before Judge Tanner, by whom he was required to give bond. After Fleeshman gave bond he swore out a warrant against Burnett, charging him with largeny and Burnett was arrested but subsequently released on a fifty dollar bond.

For STEALING FROM A RAILEDAD.

For several months past a systematic robbery of cars, boxes and packages has been going on in the Richmond and Danville yard and depots in this city.

Yesterday, a half-dozen persons charged with the robbery, were arrested.

For a long time past the officials of the road have been paying for freight which had been stolen, and several weeks ago placed the matter in the hands of Detective Fellers. The detective soon ascertained that the thievery was being done by the employes of the road. He learned that whenever a broken box was taken from a car to the depot part of its contents was stolen and frequently boxes were broken open intentionally in the removal by the men. The detective laid traps for the entire force which worked so well that he succeeded in accumulating evidence sufficient to convict against search. in accumulating evidence sufficient to convict against several of the men. Yesterday aided against several of the men. Yesterday added by Captain Crim and a detachment of patrol-men, he arrested Mike Henderson, Jack Spann, George Simms, Richard Coleman, Pri-mus Hightower, Jesse Johnson and John Woodward, all of whom are now in jail.

FOR SLAPPING A CHILD. George Greer, Alonzo Kitchens and Wiley Gibson, a trio of young negroes, were passing along Calhoun street yesterday. As they passed Mr. J. T. Bates' residence his young son was on the sidewalk and actuated by meanness the darkies began slapping and shaking the little fellow about. Mrs. Bates, who was in the house heard her son's cries who was in the house, heard her son's cries for help and walking out of the house told the negroes to leave, but they paid no attention to Mrs. Bates, further than to abuse her. Officer Nat West happened along at the right time and arrested the trio. This morning they will stand up in police court to answer the charge of disorderly conduct.

FOR CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

Marion Mapp, a drayman, will appear in police court this morning to answer two cases, and Jumbo Hunter will testify for the city. Yesteray Jumbo noticed that Mapp was driving a disabled mule, and stopping him examined the mule closely. The mule was wholly unfit for work, and Jumbo decided to make a case againt Mapp for cruelty to animals. After entering that was Jumbo asked mals. After entering that case Jumbo asked Mapp to exhibit his dray license, but Mapp had never procured it from the city clerk. This morning he will answer the charge of draying without license, as well as to cruelty to animals.

RIDING ON THE SIDEWALK.

Yesterday morning Ed. Davis, a jet black negro, created quite a sensation on Whitehall street by riding a horse rapidly up and down the sidewalk. Davis did not seem to care for the inconvenience and fright he gave pedestrians on the sidewalk. Petvolmen Morgrief trians on the sidewalk. Patrolman Monerief undertook to arrest Davis, and Davis tried to ride away. He did not succeed in escaping, and this morning will answer in police court the charge of disorderly driving.

HANGED IN OZARK. William J. Ward Executed for the Murder

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 19.—[Special.]— Wm. J. Ward was hanged at Ozark, Dale county, between the hours of 12 and 1 o'clock today, for the murder of Jacob J. Parmer. Ward was taken from jail at Clayton, where he had been placed for safe keeping, yesterday, and carried to Ozark, where he was executed today. The execution was private, being witnessed only by the officers, ministers and re-

William J. Ward murdered Jacob J. Palmer in Dale county, Ala., September 30th, 1883. It was a bright September afternoon, and Palmer parsed through the quiet little village of Echo parsed through the quiet little village of Leno on horseback, going in the direction of his home down the road toward Newton. He went home that night with wounds that would not heal—home to linger but a little while amid the prevent and transfer the loyed ones, and the prayers and tears of the loved ones, and then to die.

Very soon after Palmer rode through Echo going home, Ward was seen to ride rapidly away in the same direction, and soon after returned rapidly. He was riding a red mule, strangely in keeping with the bloody deed he committed. Later in the evening Palmer was found by his friends lying by the roadside four miles from Echo. He had received two pistol shot wounds and the life blood was ebbing fast away. Kind hands carried him home.

When the sun had risen, there he was dead When the sun had risen, there he was dead and that little home was sabled in grief Palmer died about 2 o'clock on the morning of the first day of October. He remained conscious to the last, and in the presence of witnesses made a death bed declaration. The witnesses were, Charles Brannon, William Woodham, R. H. Bright, Seaborn Brannon, John J. Rivenback, and J. J. Binnefield. The dying man said that while he was riding along quietly toward his home, Ward rode up to him (Palmer) and asked him his name. Palmer told him, and then, without name. Palmer told him, and then, without another word, Ward drew a revolver and shot him twice, first in the back and then in the shoulder. Deceased said he knew Ward very well. Dr. H. J. Simpson, the attending physician, said he reached Palmer on the morning of October 1st, and found him dead. He made an examination of the wounds and found that the dead man had been shot twice. One shot entered the left side near the spine and came to the surface two inches below the left nipple. The other shot entered the right shoulder rather behind and came near the surface in front near the axilla. One bullet passed near the heart, and the other penetrated the right lung. The physician thought that either wound would have produced death. The weapon that did the murderous work was a thirty-two caliber revolver,

The case has been rather a remarkable one in the criminal jurisprudence of Alabama. Dale county is in a quiet corner of the state. Its annals are unaventful, comparatively speak-ing, and its people are peaceful. That is the rule. Very naturally the Palmer murder was followed by a wave of excitement. The kill-ing, in cold blood, of one white man by another ing, in cold blood, of one white man by another was itartling, and for a time the feeling of indignation against Ward ran high among the people. He was arrested and had a preliminary trial, which resulted in his commitment to prison without bail. He then applied to a court of chancery, by writ of habeas corpus, for bail, which was again withheld. He was defended by Colonel Clates now a member of coursess from Aia-Oates, now a member of congress from Aiabama. An appeal for bail was made to the supreme court, but the judge affirmed the ruling of the chancery court. The prisoner was then tried for his crime in the circuit court of Dale county. The jury in the case returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree, and fixed the penalty of death by hanging. Again nxed the penalty of death by hanging. Again the case was appealed to the supreme court, and again the decision of the lower court was sustained and the sentence was passed. Petition after petition was presented to Governor O'Neal, praying him to commute the death sentence to imprisonment in the penitentiary for life. The main reasons urged by the petitions praying for a commutation were petitions praying for a commutation were that homicides are very rare in Dale county; that the killing of Palmer caused great excite-ment and feeling of indignation among the people at the time, and that the jury who made out the verdict were actuated by this same feeling rather than by the true status of the case.

It is said that Palmer had purchased some It is said that Palmer had purchased some land that Ward expected or wished to purchase, and hence the hard feeling that existed between them. Further than that, no cause for the fatal difficulty is known. The hanging of a white man in Alabama, and in Dale county, at that, is a remarkable event in the country's history. Ward was the first white man hanged in the state since the late war.

The governor firmly refused to make the commutation, and in reply said: "I regret that the reasons urged do not raise a doubt of my duty in the premises. If their was a single doubt I would be quick to give the benefit of it to the doomed man. I am constrained to let the death sentence be executed."

On Friday of last week, just one week before the day of execution, Mrs, Ward, wife of the doomed murderer, visited Montgomery, sought Governor O'Neal and besieged him with a prayer to commute the death sentence or grant a respite, but her pity-pleading was of no avail. The governor knew of no mitigating circumstance, and again refused to change the sentence, which was promptly executed today.

Ward was born of respectable parents in Dale county in 1835, and was at his death fifty years old. He had a common education, was a man of more than ordinary intelligence, pleasant address and gentlemanly mien. He was five feet six inches tall, carried himself well, had blue eyes and was rather handsome. He leaves his third wife and several children, having lest two wires by death.

And today William J. Ward, in the very ncontine of life—in the full flush of a vigorous manhood—passed from the footlights of time and went to eternity via the gallows. That was the way he chose. He simply paid the penalty of his crime—life for life—and one more viging to wished passion has fallen in more victim to wicked passion has fallen in the way of the thousands who have gone be-fore to keep Death busy with his ghastly car-

WITH A PRAYER ON HIS LIPS A Brutal Scoundrel is Ushered Into Eter-

This morning about two o'clock, Captain Crim discovered that Roberts's commission house, on Forsyth street, had been burglarized. One of the large front windows has been broken out some time and two thin boards nailed across the glass. Some time last night thieves tore these bord-faway and, athen crawling through the hole, stole about twenty hams. Fined ten holes and tried to induce a man of her acquaintance to go home with her, taking his cap as surety that he would follow her. She raisod such a row with her loud talking and nonsense that the proprietor ordered her away. She went at last, but returned yesterday and continued to cut up, in spite of remonstrances and threats, until the man who keeps the place had her arrested.

Night before last a burglar entered a shop on Peters street and stole several pairs of shoes. Yesterday morning Patrolman Brenthat she retract what she had said and contrathat she retract what she had said and contra-dict the report. This she refused to do because she said the charges were true. Upon this Gil-lespie said he took down the shotgun and killed her, emptying both barrels into her head. The negro said he was sorry for the crime he had cummitted. He denied that ne had at-tempted to cutrage the person of Mrs. Gray. After the negro had made this confession, several prominent cities and the confession, several prominent citizens urged the crowd to several prominent citizens urged the crowd to allow the law to take its course.

"Hang him, hang the black brute!" "Don't give the state any expense to try his case." "He showed no mercy, we will show none," were the expressions heard on all sides.

With a shout the crowd dragged the unresisting negro down the stairway and out into the yard. A short consultation was held, and it was decided to take the number-partials.

was decided to take the murderer outside the town to hang him. The crowd took him down the principal street of the town and stopped on the outskirts of the village. They came to a hait under a large tree, the rope was thrown over a limb and the negro was pulled up. He went up at five minutes before three o'clock. The last words he said before he hung were, "God have mercy on me."

The Governor's Horse Guard went through its weekly practice drill yesterday at the grounds on Pryor street. A large attendance f the members was noticeable. Captain Milledge thinks that the company will carry forty-five men to Savannah in May.

Jeremiah Gay's Trouble. From the Covington (Ga.) Enterprise.

A colored preacher by the name of Jeremiah Gay borrowed Elijah Cooksey's mule last Sunday to fill an appointment in Rocky Plains district. While passing old Billie Henderson's cabin the mule showed signs of nervousness by backing its ears and rearing up behind. Gay became uneasy, and said to Uncle Billie: "Shorely Brother 'Lige wouldn't 'er let out a shorely Brother Lige wouldn't 'er let out a mule that erd fling a pius Meth'dist minister on the road to church?" "I ain't so powerful shore of that," replied old Billie, "for Cooksey is a mighty stout believer in spreading of the cospel." In less than ten seconds Gay was the gospel." In less than ten seconds Gay was first in the air, then on his all-fours, and finally he found a resting place in a friendly brush pile near at hand. The mule switched it stail and lit out for the factory, while the noise from its hoofs seemed to say, "farewell, Brother Gay." Old Billie raised both hands in the air and shouted "Lord help!" Preacher Gay cut a stout hickory stick and want off in search of a stout hickory stick and went off in search a colored man by the name of Elijah Cooke There was no preaching at the Plains that a but a knock down and drag out fight cam-near Bone mill in which a disciple of the mertal Wesley was badly worsted.

Clubbed Off by the Police. COLUMBUS O. March 19 .- The street railway company ran one car over the line under the requirements of its charter this morning. The police assisted, and on the return trip the men endeavored to take possession of the car, but were clubbed off by the police, and one man was badly bruised. The mayor made a speech to the men, assuring them of his sym pathy so long as they indulge in no violence. He has the strikers in good control, ready to obey his orders. The mayor is not inclined to allow further interference.

NEW YORK, March 19-C. L. Green & Co., in their report on cotton futures today, say: Contracts were tame and drooping with an average decline of about 7 points. Liverpool proved disappointing, and Manchester failed to develope any interest, which, in conjunction with the absence of new orders and little covering demand, appeared to dishearten the bull element, and led to pretty free selling out by scalpers who invested yesterday. The close was nominally steady, but with very little actual demand prevailing.

THE CHICAGO MARKET. Features of the Speculative Movement in Grain and Produce. Special to The Constituti

CHICAGO, March 13-On 'change the bears had everything their own way Early public cables were heavy, and private messages that were re-ceived later were depressed to a still further degree. The decline in New York has also helped the downward tendency here. Wheat opened at 84%, and with very few recoveries fell back to 83%c—just lc under yesterday's closing. During this time the market was hopelessly weak. The 1 o'clock closing market washorelessly weak. The lo'clock closing was depressed and bearish, with prices a shade above the lowest points.

Corn was pulled down by the surrounding cereals, was soid freely at a decline of ½c, dropping from 30% to 35%. There was a fair trade only.

The greatest decline was in pork, which fell 30c from the highest points.

In wheat the crowd were sellers and closed the market weak at constations. market weak at quotation

THE CONSTITUTION.

EVENTS FOR TO-DAY, MARCH 20.

AMUSEMENTS-AT DEGIVES - MATINEE AND NIGHT -MICHAEL STROGOFF.

THROUGHTHE CITY.

Pencil Paragraphs Caught on the Fly by the Constitution Reporters.

THE SUPERIOR COURT.—It this court the case of Green Stokes vs. the Georgia railroad, personal damages: is on trial. Stokes wants the road to pay him $5,000 for breaking two ribs and otherwise bruising him up. He was a trainband, and one day while climbing to the top of a freight car an engine pushed up against the ear, throwing him off.

HIS HEART'S BLOOD.—There is now in the United States marshal's office two subpoenas which were in Deputy Marshal Merritt's pocket when he was killed by John Coffee. The papers are covered with Merritt's heart's blood. The marshal intended to serve the papers on Will Hambrick, at Silver Creek. The papers will be returned to the clerk's office and not have.

A FINE Dog.—"Flo-2nd," the cockerel spaniel to be raffled at Taylor's stables Monday night, is a very fine dog. She is two years old, and is by Dr. Nevin's "Champion Frank" from "Flo-1st," imported by George Thomas, of Bellville, and winner of record prize at the field trail in Dublin. She also won first prize and gold medal at the bench show in same city. Her value is $150.

HE MASHED HIS HAND.-Jim Masters, a colored man who has been working for the East Tennessee road, in the yards, had three fingers of his right hand so badly mashed, yes-terday, that amputation was necessary. While terday, that amputation was necessary. While attempting to couple two freight cars Masters allowed his hand to remain between the bumpers too long. The bumpers came together with great force, and the three fingers were pulverized.

Buried in Oakland.—The funeral of Miss Fannie Holmes took place yesterday afternoon at 3:30 from Trinity church. The attendance at the church was quite large, and the funeral a long one. Rev. J. M. Lee conducted the services. The remains were placed away in Oakland cemetery. The deceased for more than twenty-five years has been the teacher of the infant class of Trinity, and among those present were a large number of scholars, who, during this long number of years, had been members of her class.

LAID TO REST.—William Pinyon, the young man who was shot and killed by Pat Hickey day before yesterday at Dr. Johnson's store, on Smith street, was buried in Oakland cemetery yesterday. The funeral was largely attended, and Hickey was among those present. Hickey's grief was painful to witness. Pinyon's wife is in an extremely critical condition, and the physicians who are attending her are very doubtful of her recovery. Since Pinyon's death Hickey has walked incessantly. He cannot sit down or remain still a single minute, and his friends are quite uneasy about him.

A HABEAS CORPUS CASE.—Yesterday Ordinary Calhoun heard a habeas corpus case. It was a suit by Rosa Lee against Chief Connolly, of the police force. Charlie Rathrock, a bright looking boy, seven years old, was found living with negroes some days ago, having been put there by his mother who calls herself Rosa Lee. Chief Connolly took the boy in charge, and refused to give him up, as the woman has no character. She occurred proceedings to recover the child, and the trial began yesterday. Judge Calhoun decided to let the mother negotiate with some suitable person to take charge of the child. A HABEAS CORPUS CASE.-Yesterday Ordin-

A FIRE LAST NIGHT.—An alarm of fire was turned in last night about twelve o'clock from box 56, located in Jamestown. The alarm was caused by the burning of a house on the west side owned by Mr. Boze Adair. The building was occupied by Professor Walker, the organ builder, who lost heavily. When the fire was first discovered it had gained such headway that Professor Walker and his family had barely time to escape alive. Among other things which Mr. Walker lost was a large organ, which he has been building for three years. The origin of the fire is unknown.

SHE DIED SUDDENLY .- Clara Holmes, a young colored girl, whose parents live on Calhoun street, near Northavenue, died very suddenly yesterday morning. Soon after breakfast the girl picked up a water bucket and went to the well. After filling the bucket she re-entered the house, and placed it on the table. Just as she let go the handle she threw both hands to her heart and dropped to the floor. The girl's mother was standing near her and picking her up carried her into a bed room and laid her on a bed, where she died in less than five minutes. The girl was as well and heart on used bed, where she died in less than ave animos. The girl was as well and hearty as usual when she sat down to breakfast yesterday morning. Her sudden death is attributed to heart disease.

GOING TO THE ASYLUM.—Mr. C. T. Freeze, of Walker county, passed through Atlanta yesterday, en route to Milledgeville. Mr. Freeze had with him an old colored woman who is a raving maniac, and for whom the state insane asylum will provide. The old woman is known at her home as Peggy Lode. She went crazy on account of religion, and during her stay in the union passenger depot yesterday prayed and sang incessantly. Her loud voice and the distress it indicated attracted the attention of experiency should be considered. ed the attention of everybody about the depot and created great sympathy for the old woman. Her case is considered incurable. At times she is so violent that it is found necessary to bind her with cords in order to prevent her from doing herself bodily harm.

A TIE AGAIN.—The third match of the series between Mrs. Evans and Mr. James A. Barker occurred last night at the gallery on Decatur and Loyd street, and resulted in a tie, each party scoring one hundred and ten. The target was a one-fourth inch in diameter, and the gun used a regular twenty-two target gun. After the shooting was over Mrs. Evans proposed three shots to settle the tie. The shots were fired and again resulted in a tie. Quite a crowd was present and enjoyed the fun. Mrs. Evans and Mr. Barker will try to settle the question as to superiority of marks. settle the question as to superiority of marks-manship next Tuesday night. One hundred and twenty was the highest either one could score. Each one scored eleven on each shot.

FOR THE STATE FAIR .- The state fair sub-FOR THE STATE FAIR.—The state fair subcommittee was out yesterday and day before examining the proposed sites for the permanent location of the state fair grounds. The piece of land near Edgewood and the piece on the McDonough road have been visited. Next the committee will look at the piece near East Point, and will then prepare a report of their work to the general committee. On Monday afternoon next the general committee will meet the executive committee of the Georgia agricultural association at the chamber of commerce, and at that meeting some definite arentural association at the chamber of commerce, and at that meeting some definite arrangement will probably be entered into by the gentlemen representing Atlanta and those representing the state agricultural association. Mr. Gramling, the chairman of the general committee, expects every member to be present next Monday.

Shot Through the Foot.—J. C. Pyle, a young white men whose home is at 327 Elliott street, shot himself through the left foot last night. Pyle works for the plow factory on Marietta street, and is a quiet, industrious young man. He passes his evenings at home reading and studying. Last evening after supper Pyle went to his room and picking up his pistol unloaded and cleaned it. After cleaning the pistol he began loading it again, and while in the act of dropping a cartridge into a chamber the pistol went off. The muzzle was then pointed directly at Pyles' left foot, and the ball passed entirely through the foot, near the instep, crushing the bones as it went, and making an extremely disagreeable and painful wound, which will keep the young man away from his work for several days.

DR. ARMSTRONG TO WAIT YET A

▲ Meeting of the Members of St. Philip's Church Last Night-A Letter From Dr. Armstrong in Which He States His Position-A Deci-sion Reached-Not to Preach Yet.

A called meeting in Tallulah Hall was held last night, consisting of a large number of the influential male members of St. Philip's church and congregation who desired Dr. Armstrong to disregard the echlesiastical suspension, and to preach to and for them outside of episcopate authority. It was desired by these gentle men, and by a large number of people in the community, that Dr. Arm-strong would consent to preach regularly in the opera house, and it was hoped to hold the first service there tomorrow.

Dr. Armstrong having been invited to the meeting, and advised of the feeling, expressed his views freely and frankly, and concluded by reading the following letter to St. Philip's church, which he said he proposed to publish meeting, and advised of the feeling, expressed his views freely and frankly, and concluded by reading the following letter to St. Philip's church, which he said he proposed to publish in the city papers:

To the people of St. Philip's Church:—My dear brethren in the Lord:—You are well aware that in my ecclesiastic life I have arrived at a very critical period, when it is no easy natter for me to decide what is wisest and best for me to decide what is wisest and best for me to do. Although our relation as rector andiparishioners has been broken our bonds of mutual affection have not been broken. I certainly can make this affirmation on my own side of the matter. I loved you before the storms that have terminated in our separration on my own side of the matter. I loved you before the storms that have terminated in our separration on my own side of the matter. I loved you before the storms that have terminated in our separration of the devotion will continue, sustained by a warm gratitude, as long as my memory shall retain its power, and my heart shall throb. There is, as far as I can see, but one of two courses for me to pursue; either to remain quiet and inactive under the sentence that has been pronounced upon me, or to continue to exercise my ministerial functions, at least in preaching. As the latter has been my sole work for a quarter of a century, and as I can truly say that it has been with me a real passion, growing, too, with my growth, and strengthening with my strength, I need not say that the contemplation of abandoning it even for a time is far from being welcome to my mind. Such an abandonment would involve a sacrifice commensurate not only with my devotion to the work, but also with 'my sense of duty to 'God and man. While I love to preach the Gospel and to interpret to men and women its broad, far reaching, and universally adaptive principles; at the same time, I believe that whatever gifts God has given me, I could exercise in no other way, so efficaciously for His glory and men's elevation and e

The discussion was participated in by Captain Gay, General Lewis, Major Ketner, Dr. Olmstead, Captain Wily, Mr. King, Governor Bullock and others, the final conclusion being a general acquiescence in the recommendation of Dr. Armstrong. It is understood that Dr. Armstrong will exhaust every remedy within the range ecclesiastical law before giving up. The state convention of the Episcopal church meets in Savannah in May next, and the general convention of the church in the United States meets in October It is said that the Rev. Chauncey Williams, of Augusta, will officiate at St. Philip's on

A WOMAN WHIPPED.

A Man Tells Some More Stories About the County Poor House Troubles.

In one room of a small shanty on Lovejoy street, is a man named C. S. Bailey, with his wife and two children, one aged seven and the other aged three. The family left the poor house a few days ago because they were not satisfied with the treatment they received. Mr. Bailey said vehemently to a Constitu-tion man yesterday:
"I would rather starve upon the streets of

"I would rather starve upon the streets of Atlanta than to go to the poorhouse under the administration of Dr. Hope!"

Mr. Bailey makes a number of charges against the management, but especially attacks the fare at the institution. He says the meal is not even sifted and that the cooking is not fit for a dog.

is not even sifted and that the cooking is not fit for a dog.

Of the fare Mr. Bailey said:

"Sometimes we would get enough and some time we would not. We got only two meals a day. I never saw any cold lunches for supper. For breakfast we would have coffee, grits, gravy, salty meat and syrup. For dianer we would have boiled beans, peas, corn bread and meat. Even the patients in the hospital had to live on that fare. The beds and the rooms are good and there is no ground and the rooms are good and there is no ground and the rooms are good and there is no ground for complaint on that score. There is ground for complaint, however, against Dr. Hope for his carelessness and delays in providing medicine and necessaries for the inmates."

The most sensational thing that Mr. Bailey told was the following:

"I saw Dr. Hope tie a white woman and whin her. The woman's name is I and "I saw Dr. Hope tie a white woman and whip her. The woman's name is Jane Woods. She is of unsound mind and I understand efforts have been made to get her in the asylum. About once a month she gets foolish. One day this woman got mad and beat another woman in the face. The doctor had Jane tied and started with her to the cook room, but she begged and promised to behave and was let off. A few days after that she had a difficulty with a woman named Greenway and as she ran out of her room threw a stick of wood at Dr. Hope. He had the woman tied in one of the rooms, and whipped her with a switch about the size of your little finger. While he was whipping her, the woman begged and was let off with half a dozen or a dozen lashes."

Another queer story is that Dr. Hope had a white was havied as Another queer story is that Dr. Hope had a white man buried not long ago without so much as having the man's face and hands washed.

The negroes seem to have a rough time on the road, as is shown by the following from the Daily Iron Age, of Birmingham, of yester-

the Daily Iron Age, of Birmingham, of yesterday:
Thesday night seventy-five negroes landed in the city from Atlanta to work on the Georgia Pacific railroad extension works. The negroes were from South Carolina and Georgia, and had been sent here by contractors to work on the forty-two mile gap. Their destiny was Coalburg. When the negroes arrived they suddenly slipped away from the man who had them in charge. They are now separated and scattered about the city. The cause of the queer action of the negroes is somewhat sensational. They say that the contractors promised to pay one dollar and twenty-five cents per day for labor, give them a house to live in and a drink of whisky every day. When the negroes reached the city some one told them that they would be paid only ninety cents a day for labor and they would have to pay fifty cents a day for labor server, that the contractors would take them one hundred miles in the woods and leave them to be eaten up by wild beasts, and that out there the white men lived on the little negroes that were brought out to the works. And as for whisky a drop was never seen in that comnegroes that were brought out to the works. And as for whisky a drop was never seen in that community. This so frightened the ignorant darkies they refused to leave the city, saying they had much rather starve in town than live on pine tops and run the risk of being eaten up by wild animals. How the negroes can be gotten together again is a mystery.

THE L. P. GRANT PARK

A Force of Ten Men at Work Rapidly Beauti

Yesterday President Root put a force of ten men to work at the Grant park. The men are superintended by Mr. Mostello, an experienced man in such work. Major Rootsays he will give every day's work his personal supervision, and make every lick count. The drives and walks are being cleaned and leveled down; leaves raked up and burned, ditches cleaned out, trees trimmed out, and in fact a general cleaning up is going on, and in a few weeks the park will present an attractive and inviting appearance.

"I intend," said President Root, "to make Grant park just as pretty as possible, and as long as the money holds out a force of men will continue to beautify it. It is already a pretty place, but not half so pretty as it can and will be made."

"Any new statuary?"
"I have just received the bills for two large bronze lions to be placed on the fort, and a bronze angel to be placed at the spring. The latter I bought, and I put it out there in memory of my dear wife. It represents the angel at the pool of Bethesba. We are expecting other things within a few weeks."
"How soon will the street cars' run to the Harrison and James Smith, brothers from Rabun county, were on trial for working in an illicit distillery. James plead guilty, but Harrison said he wanted a trial, and he got it. He also got two months in Hall county jail and one hundred dollars fine. James didn't think they acted square with him in putting the same punishment on him, and it is likely that next time he will let the jury decide whether he is guilty or not.

gets one-third. Besides getting half the registered letters that re received in Atlanta, and one-third of the money orders and postal notes, THE CONSTITUTION gets more express packages daily than any single firm, and more postage stamps enclosed as money than any twenty firms. These facts indicate the rapidity with which THE WEEKLY CONSTITUTION is extending its cirulation. It is the best advertising medium in the south.

Michael Strogoff Tonight.

The last two performances of the month cur today at matinee and night, when the great ssian spectacular drama, Michael Strogoff, will be presented with a sumptious grandeur and a realistic effect never seen in our city. This play is an admirable one at all points of view, and as deeply interesting as imposing. The press, as well as the public, has received everywhere the piece with the greatest enthusiasm, and its success all over the country north of us and in Europe during he last few years is a sufficient proof of its excel nce. The New York Heraid says:

lence. The New York Heraid says:
As brought out by the Andrews company it is both a majestic and massive representation. Its appointments are grand and picturesque in chromatic detail, and there is a peculiar fascination about the successive accompaniments that defy imitation. It is an imposing spectacle of rude barbaric significance, attended with the delicate coloring of Asiatic imagination and surpassing richness of Mohammedan fancy. It is produced without any abatement of its original charms, and preserves all the fascination which characterized it throughout the varied romantic incidents of its seenic contrasts.

ANOTHER VICTORY SCORED BY THE ATLANTAS.

Large Crowd Witnesses the Second Great Game at Athletic Park-The Atlantas Victorious by Score of 8 to 4-The Detroits Shut Out

Atlanta has unquestionably a stronger team

The first day's game of six to two, was just as fairly won as yesterday's, but as Mr. Kerins complained of Lynch's umpiring, Mr. Kerins himself was put in to umpire on yesterday. In spite of this, Atlanta beat the visitors again with hands down by 8 to 4.

The comparative value of this record on the The comparative value of this record on the league championship, is as follows: The Louis villes without practice, beat Savannah by 10 to 5, and 12 to 7. Louisville then beat Charleston two games. Then coming to Atlanta after she had played four games, and had ten days practice, was beaten twice by Atlanta, although the local team had never played a single team together, and had only one days practice. This is the record. Our readers can draw their own inference, remembering that the last game was umpired by a Louisvillelplayer who was maden account of the umpiring of the day before.

The team showed up yesterday even better than The team showed up yesterday even better than the day before, though it played a little loosely in the last two innings, through over confidence. Kimber justified his great reputation as a pitcher in spite of a sore arm, which had made the club surgeon forbid hispitching. His upshoot in the fifth and sixth innings, when the Louisville's had two men on bases, was simply magical. Lynch was great behind the bad, and at bat was a hero. His long foul over the right field fence was wonderful and his superb playing was applauded by the crowd to the echo.

Peak, who held second, Stricker's leg being sore, proved an excellent all-round player, and is as Peak, who held second, Stricker's leg being sore, proved an excellent all-round player, and is as good an extra man as any club need have. McDonaid improved very much on first, and made one marvelous catch of a pop fly. Kline at short stop was perfect, though he dropped an easy fly. The in-field is still not as closely covered as it will be when the men understand each other, and two or three balls slipped through in yesterday's game. The feature of yesterday's game was the heavy batting of the locals. Purcell knocked a clean home run, and Monk Kline led off beautifully for a three bagger. Moore, Lynch and McDonald are all heavy hitters, and Kline bids fair to become one of the best batters in the league. Recclus was pounded all over the field. The steadiness with which the locals played an up-hill game shows that they cannot be rattled.

Although they had never played to Kimber's pitching before, they were as steady as veterans, and never lost their alertness until the game was safely beaten. Following is the game in detail:

DETAILS OF THE GANE.

Atlanta went to bat and Cline made a single hit and took second on Wolf's passed ball; Purcell made first on White's fumble; Moore hit to pitcher and went out at first; Cline out stealing home; Lynch struck out. For the visitors, Wolf hit to Cline and went out at first; Browning, but Lynch dropped it and Browning scored; Reccius fouled out.

In the second, Lyons hit to short and out at first; proved an excellent all-round player, and is as Cline, who dropped it, but got Cross out at second, and threw home to catch Browning, but Lynch dropped it and Browning scored; Reccius fouled out.

In the second, Lyons hit to short and out at first; McDonald took first on being hit and stole second; Peak struck out; Bradley hit to short and out at first. Mack filed out to McDonald; Werrick hit long fly to left, which Purcell took in beautifully; White did the same thing, retiring the side.

In the fourth, Lyons struck out; McDonald hit to second and out at first; Peak flied out to Strauss; Cook hit to Lyons and oht at first; Receins and Mack flied out to Moore.

In the fifth, Bradley hit to short and out at first; Kimber flied out to short; Cline hit to right for a single; Purcell flied out to left; Werrick hit to left for three bases and scored on White's single; Strauss hit to second, forced Wolf out and got out at first; double play by Peak and McDonald.

In the sixth, Moore hit to third and got to first on Werrick's fumble; Lynch hit to right for a single, and went to third on error to Cross, McDonald scoring; Kimber made a single, and went to third on error to Cross, McDonald Scoring; Kimber and ea single, and went to third on error to Cross, McDonald Scoring; Kimber and ea single, and went to third on Browning's error, Bradley scoring: Cline hit to short and went out at first; Cross hit to left for a single; Cook took first on balls; Receius hit to pitcher, and Cross was forced out at third; Mack hit to first and went out at first.

In the eighth, Peak hit to enter for a single, and went to third on Moore's hot single; Purcell and Moore scored on Lynch's single; Lyons hit to second, forcing Lynch out and going out at first; McDona at first.

In the ninth, Purcell paralyzed things with a clean home run; Moore hit to center for a single; Lynch fouled out; Lyons struck out; McDonald struck out, Mack took first on balls; Werrick hit to left for a single, Mack scoring; White hit to short took first out at second (Strause fouled). and forced Werrick out at second; Strauss fouled out to Lyons; Wolf hit to second and forced White

The Game in Nashville.

Nashville, Tenn., March 19.—[Special.]—Nashville put her new box man, Ware, up today, and his pitching was all that Memphis could desire, four of them making two-base hits, besides thirteen singles, giving them seventeen runs. Nashville got but seven hits, securing six runs: Hillery made three of the hits by the home club, two being three-baggers. Nashville made four errors and Memphis six. O'Leary not being in practice, gave four men bases on balls. The Memphis club played far better than yesterday, as did the Nashvilles, but Ware's first professional experience had to be acquired, and he got it today. The attendance tomorrow will be enormous. Each has won a game, and the interest is intense as to the result of the third. NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 19 .- [Special.]-

Macon Crushed by Detroit. MACON, Ga., March 19.—[Special.]—The Macon-Detroit game was witnessed by a large crowd this afternoon and resulted disastrously to the local team, who played woefully out of luck. This was their first game, and they have not yet gotten into thorough working order. The score was, Detroit 21, Macon 0. 21, Macon 0.

At a meeting of the president and board of directors of the Macon baseball association, it has been decided to charge a general admission of 25 cents.

DUST FROM THE DIAMOND.

Next Tuesday the Pittsburgs. When is Chicago coming? We are getting hungry.

Memphis feels badly over the defeat given her by Nashville. To Lynch, the catcher—"Hit them again, Tom; all is forgiven."

To Lynch, the Catcher—The them again, four, all is forgiven."
Now Macon is all right, although a little weak. She will add some hitters to her team.
Atlanta bit the bottom out of the spoon with which Louisville intended feeding her.
Augusta has four excellent pitchers, and will beat the Louisvilles when she plays them.
Savannah beat Detroit and it made her mad. She retaliated by knocking ou; Macon by a score of 22 to 0.

There is one more catcher to show up. Willeans.

of 22 to 0.

There is one more catcher to show up, Williams. If he proves as good as Gunson and Lynch, we are victorious.

When Bradley gets in hitting condition he will show up finely. He is an excellent fielder and base runner.

e great Pittsburg team will be here next Tues-This club is one of the very best in the Amer-Denny Lyon made a fumble on third yesterday.

Buckle up, Denny, and hold them tight. We are counting on you.

If the two games just played are an Indication, the attendance on baseball this season will be much larger than ever.

Kelly, the third pitcher for the Chattanoogas, arrived yesterday. All the team are now on hand. The c.ub is practicing daily.

Manager Schmelz, of St. Louis, was happy again vesterday when he learned Atlanta had beaten Louisville two straight games.

We hope the umpiring was satisfactory to Mr. Kerins yesterday. He looks like a man who would find no trouble in pleasing himself.

It is said that Manager Hart will telegraph Perker to come and pitch the last game with the Atlantas, which will be played in about two weeks. Charleston begins to feel that she is weak and has commenced strengthening her team. Manager Byran knows he needs heavier men, and will get them.

Manager Purcell is surprising the public by the excellent control he has over his men. He knows that Atlanta wants good ball playing, and he will furnish it. furnish it.

Mr. Erwin of the Evening Journal, has been made official scorer for the season. An excellent selection. His scores are fuller and better than any we have seen.

It is probable that Conway and Mitchell, our two untried pitchers, will take the game with the Pittsburgs. All that need be hoped is that they are as good as Shaffer and Kimber, and their friends say they are.

The Return of Mr. Miller's Child. EDITORS CONSTITUTION:-In two recent is ues of your valuable paper in giving an accoun of the matter growing out of the habeas corpu proceedings instituted by Professor and Mrs. Wal-lace to obtain from me the custody of my only child, an unintentional injustice has been done me. and knowing your readiness to extend "fair play I ask you to insert the following extract touching said matter taken from the very full and able opinion rendered in the case by the supreme court showing what that court, after a full consideration of a verbatim report of the evidence in the case concluded to be the right and justice of the mat concluded to be the right and justice of the matter. In this opinion the court says:

"Taking the version of the plaintiff in habeas corpus as true and without any reference whatever to the respondent's account it does not clearly appear that the respondent ever relinquished the custody of his child or that he ever contracted so to do. It is wholly uncertain upon these vital points, While this is so, it is true beyond controversy that the respondent did supply food and raiment for his child, that he farnished medicine and medical attendance for it when necessary, and that he was looked to for, and required by the grandmother, in whose care it was left, to do these things, and if the provision was not always as bountiful as she thought it should be, she sharply reproved him for his alleged short comings ways as bountful as she thought it should be, she sharply reproved him for his alleged short comings in what she esteemed his duty in this regard. "It is quite apparent that he stood somewhat in oread of her reprimand for failing to observe what she deemed her proper rule and right supremacy. * * * * The child will be in the care of mother and sister, who are a part of his family and who are shown to be in every respect, upper per-who are shown to be, in every respect, proper per sons to direct her education, and to be entrusted sons to direct her education, and to be entrusted with her management."

As to the redelivery to me of my child, and the affectionate parting between her and Mrs. Wallace, and the criticisms passed upon my family in the publication in question, I prefer to remain silent, on account of my earnest hope and desire that when the feelings inspired by recent defeat have subsided, the affectionate relations so long existing between myself and the parents of my beloved wife may be resumed.

Prof. and Mrs. Wallace have always been and shall still be cordially received and welcomed at my house, and all reasonable opportunities given them to enjoy the company of their granddaughter, my child. Respectfully, Professor Joseph H. Denck's playing last evening was brilliant. Professor E. A. Schultze surpassed any previous effort.

A thoroughly appreciative audience gathered together last evening in the hall of the Young Men's Christian association, to hear the plano recital benefit given by the association to Professor Denck. christian association, to hear the piano recital beuefit given by the association to Professor Denck.
The programme contained numbers by the greatest composers of piano music. Professor Denck's playing was indeed very remarkable;
his technique is a constant surprise to the hearer, so wierdly does his fingers move over the keyboard; his interpretation of the great masters gives one rare satisfaction. Professor Schultze captured the audience by his rendition of De Beriot's "Andanta and Rondo" for violin. This composition is full-of difficult and brilliant passages as well as subtle shadings, all of which Professor Schultze handled with rare skill. For this most excellent piece of work the professor was heartily encored. At the conclusion of the programme Professor Denck was enthusiastically encored, and had to prolong the entertainment, and played an original composition, which was most cordially received.

Altogether, it was an evening spent in the most satisfactory and profitable manner, and every lover of music in Atlanta, who was not present missed the pleasure of an exceptionally fine musical entertainment.
